1.0 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Introduction

India's population in all is expected to grow by 25%, with reference to 2011, to 1.52 billion by 2036, according to the final report of the technical group on population projections dated July 2020. The group was constituted by the National Commission on Population (NCP) under the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare with the mandate to provide population projections for the period 2011 to 2036.

India's urban population is expected to increase from 377 million in 2011 to 534 million in 2026. The report projects that as much as 70% of this increase will be in urban areas. India's urban population will increase from 377 million in 2011 to 594 million in 2036 – a growth of 57%. So, while 31% of Indians were living in urban India in 2011, that will grow to 39% by 2036.

The share of the urban economy in the country's overall economy is increasing over the years. Hence, our country has to improve its urban infrastructure to achieve the objectives of economic development. Urban transport is one of the major problems, affecting the mobility of people and the economic growth of urban areas. These problems are due to prevailing imbalance in the modal split; inadequate transport infrastructure and its sub-optimal use, non-integration of land use and transport infrastructure; and lack of improvement or little improvement in city bus services. This has resulted in the accelerated growth of personalized modes which is unsustainable and needs to be corrected. This has resulted in the import of oil becoming the biggest component in the imports and increasing the current account deficit. This in turn is severely affecting the country's economic growth.

1.2 Concept of Master Plan

Master Plan is comprehensive that is it integrates various aspects of planning like housing, transportation, infrastructure etc. All the aspects considered that affect the quality of life of people and all the interrelationships between various aspects; Multidisciplinary in nature: it encompasses various disciplines of studies like social aspects, economics, environment, engineering, architecture etc.; the Master plan is a long-term document. It clears out the vision for the prospective year for the city and plans out development for future; the Master plan focuses on the rational use of land that is demarking land for the use most optimal for the activity at a place. It efficiently uses resources to meet the present and future requirements of the citizens; the Master plan should consider the environment and costs related to it. The proposals for development should be environmentally sustainable.; Master Plan is based on inclusive planning. It considers all sections of people in society in development proposals and focuses on affordability; Master plan gives restrictions on ecologically sensitive areas, on heritage sites and traditionally built-up areas and gives special norms for these places; Master Plan leads to a balanced growth of the city. It prevents the concentration of a particular activity in one place and considers the efficient distribution of facilities, infrastructure, networks and housing, and follows the neighbourhood concept of development.

1.3 Process of Master Plan Preparation

i. Legal Process

A statutory backing is needed to prepare any legal plan so that it can be implemented on the ground. It is governed by principles, statutes, and codes which are derived from the state. Various legislations which provide legal backing are; The development authority act; the urban improvement trust act; Town and Country Planning Act. The need for statutory backing is that it gives the power to exercise police power and the power of eminent domain. Any construction which does not follow the master plan can be given court notice and demolished. Most of the planning processes take place to follow a rational planning model.

ii. Technical Process

It includes the framework of working in order to prepare a plan starting from defining goals to monitoring. Master Plan preparation is based on the "Systems View of Planning" which involves instrumental rationality. The stages and steps followed by a particular authority or the concerned plan-making body might differ. The complexity of the city and the organisation itself has a direct impact on the process adopted.

iii. Public Process

Involving the community in plan preparation is one of the most important components in plan making as they are better verse in their local issues and solutions. In India, public participation is in the form of public hearing. This process is also called as "Public Participation" or "Public Hearing". The whole aim of having a master plan growth of the area for the residents of the place thus it becomes essential to take their views, objections and suggestions into account.

iv. Management Process

v. The planning process is to be managed by taking care of the resources like time and manpower, the internal organization of departments and working relationships and coordination among various departments and planning agencies. The number of stakeholders at times are numerous as in the case of metropolis where the division of work is precise and given to different "boards" or other subdivision of concerned departments. This classification makes it integral to consider all the concerned departments and agencies and thus their management.

1.4 Need for Master Plan

A Master Plan is a comprehensive, long-term plan that guides an urban area's physical, social, and economic development. There are several reasons why a master plan may be needed, including:

- Clarifying goals and objectives: A master plan can help clearly define a project's goals and objectives, and ensure that everyone involved is working towards the same end.
- Facilitating decision-making: A master plan can provide a framework for decision-making, by outlining the options available and the potential impacts of different choices.
- Coordinating resources: A master plan can help to coordinate the allocation of resources, including people, time, and money, to ensure that they are used efficiently and effectively.
- Ensuring sustainability: A master plan can help to ensure that a project is sustainable over the long term, by considering factors such as environmental impact, economic viability, and social equity.

Verified RealEstate™

- Providing a roadmap: A master plan can provide a roadmap for the future, outlining the steps needed to achieve the desired outcomes, and setting milestones and timelines for progress.

Overall, a master plan can be a valuable tool for projects of all sizes and types, helping to ensure that they are well-planned, well-coordinated, and well-positioned for success.

1.5 Focus on Master Plan

The focus of the Master Plan can vary depending on the specific needs and characteristics of the urban area, but generally, the plan is designed to achieve the following objectives

i. Land Use Planning: Master Plan focuses on how land in the urban area will be used. It identifies areas for different land uses such as residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, and recreational purposes. The plan also outlines how land will be developed and used over time.

ii. Infrastructure Development: Master Plan focuses on the development of infrastructure such as roads, water supply, sewerage, drainage, transportation, and public utilities. The plan identifies the infrastructure needs of the urban area and outlines how they will be developed to meet current and future demands.

iii. Environmental Sustainability: Master Plan focuses on environmental sustainability by promoting environmentally responsible development practices. The plan identifies ways to protect and conserve natural resources, minimize waste, and reduce the environmental impact of urbanization.

iv. Social Development: Master Plan focuses on social development by promoting social inclusion, equity, and liveability. The plan identifies ways to promote community engagement, improve access to social services, and enhance the quality of life for all residents.

v. Economic Development: Master Plan focuses on economic development by promoting economic growth and job creation. The plan identifies economic opportunities, such as new industries or commercial developments, and outlines strategies to attract investment and create jobs.

Overall, Master Plan is a tool for managing urban growth and development in a sustainable and equitable way. It provides a roadmap for the future of the urban area, outlining strategies to achieve a balance between economic development, social progress, and environmental sustainability

1.6 Approach of the Master Plan

The approach of developing a master plan involves a comprehensive and integrated process that considers a wide range of factors such as social, economic, and environmental conditions. The following are the key approaches to developing a master plan:

i. Holistic Approach: The holistic approach considers the interrelationships between various components of the area to be developed. This approach focuses on creating a balance between social, economic, and environmental factors.

ii. Stakeholder Engagement: Stakeholder engagement is an essential approach to developing a master plan. This approach involves engaging with stakeholders to understand their needs, priorities, and concerns. This helps to ensure that the plan reflects the needs of the community and is more likely to be successfully implemented.

iii. Evidence-Based Planning: Evidence-based planning involves using data and analysis to inform the development of the master plan. This approach helps to ensure that the plan is based on a thorough understanding of the area being developed and its characteristics.

iv. Adaptive Planning: Adaptive planning involves developing a plan that can adapt to changing circumstances. This approach recognizes that conditions in the area being developed are likely to change over time and that the plan needs to be flexible enough to adapt to these changes.

Verified RealEstate™

v. Sustainability: The sustainability approach focuses on developing a master plan that is environmentally, socially, and economically sustainable. This approach recognizes that development should not come at the expense of the environment or the well-being of the community.

vi. Implementation Focus: The implementation focus approach involves developing a plan that is focused on implementation. This approach recognizes that the success of the plan is dependent on its implementation and focuses on developing a plan that is practical and feasible to implement.

In all, the approach to developing a master plan should be collaborative, evidence-based, and focused on creating a sustainable and adaptable plan that reflects the needs of the community.

1.7 Aims of the Master Plan

The main aim of the Master Plan under the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) is to ensure the planned development of cities and towns in India with a focus on providing basic amenities like water supply, sewerage, urban transport, and parks to improve the quality of life of its citizens.

AMRUT seeks to promote sustainable and inclusive urban development by encouraging the adoption of green and energy-efficient technologies, promoting citizen participation in urban planning, and improving urban governance through capacity building and institutional reforms.

The Master Plan under AMRUT aims to create infrastructure that meets the demands of urbanization in India, including provisions for affordable housing and slum rehabilitation, while promoting economic growth and job creation in urban areas. By doing so, AMRUT aims to create liveable cities and towns that are able to provide a good quality of life to their residents.

Verified RealEstate™

1.8 Objective

The major objective is to develop common digital geo-referenced base maps and land use maps using Geographical Information System (GIS) in each AMRUT city to formulate Master Plans.

The primary objective of the Master Plan under AMRUT (Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation) is to establish a comprehensive urban planning framework that guides the development of cities and towns in a systematic and sustainable manner. The key focus of the Master Plan is to:

- Identify infrastructure gaps and prioritize investments in areas such as water supply, sewerage, drainage, urban transport, parks, and green spaces, among others.
- Promote compact and mixed land-use development that reduces urban sprawl and supports the efficient use of resources.
- Foster sustainable and inclusive urban development that considers the needs of all segments of society, including the poor and vulnerable.
- Strengthen urban governance and institutional capacities to enable effective implementation of the Master Plan.

1.9 Components

The major components are:

- Generation of base Map and Thematic Map and Urban Database Creation

  - The base map serves as the foundation for all other planning activities and provides a graphical representation of the existing physical and socio-economic conditions of the area to be planned.

  - A thematic map is a type of map that emphasizes a particular theme or topic, such as population density, land use, or transportation networks. In the context of the AMRUT Master Plan, thematic maps can be used to visualize and analyze various aspects of urban infrastructure and services,

Verified @ RealEstate

- the creation of an urban database is an important component of the AMRUT master plan, as it provides the necessary data and information to support evidence-based urban planning and decision-making.

- Formulation of Master Plan

- the formulation of a Master Plan in the AMRUT program involves a data-driven, stakeholder-centric, and integrated approach to urban development. It is a critical step towards improving the quality of life in urban areas and achieving sustainable development goals.

- Capacity Building

- The capacity-building activities under the AMRUT Master Plan aim to develop a skilled workforce that can effectively plan, implement, and maintain sustainable urban infrastructure projects. This will enable ULBs to provide basic services to citizens and promote inclusive and sustainable urban development.

1.10 Scope of the Master Plan

The Master Plan under the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) is a crucial component of the mission. The scope of the Master Plan includes:

- City-level Infrastructure Planning: The Master Plan under AMRUT aims to provide a comprehensive city-level infrastructure plan that considers the existing infrastructure, future requirements, and potential growth of the city.
- Citizen Participation: The Master Plan is developed with the active participation of citizens, local authorities, and other stakeholders. This ensures that the infrastructure plan meets the needs and aspirations of the people.
- Area-Based Development: AMRUT focuses on area-based development, which involves the comprehensive development of a specific area within the city. The Master Plan identifies such areas and lays down the plan for their development.
- Project Selection: The Master Plan also includes the selection of priority projects based on their potential impact on the quality of life of citizens. The projects are selected after careful consideration of their feasibility, sustainability, and potential for replication.

- Monitoring and Evaluation: The Master Plan also includes a monitoring and evaluation framework that tracks the progress of the implementation of projects and ensures that the objectives of the plan are met.

1.11 Methodology

The methodology used in the AMRUT Master Plan is designed to ensure that urban areas in India have access to basic infrastructure and services and to promote sustainable urban development and it involves several steps, including:

i. Assessment of urban infrastructure and services: The first step is to assess the existing urban infrastructure and services in the city. This includes water supply, sewerage, drainage, urban transport, and solid waste management, among others. The assessment helps in identifying the gaps in the existing infrastructure and services.

ii. Citizen consultation: The AMRUT Master Plan is prepared with extensive consultation with citizens, especially the urban poor and marginalized communities. Public consultations are conducted to identify the needs and priorities of the residents, and their inputs are considered while preparing the plan.

iii. Formulation of strategic goals: Based on the assessment and citizen consultations, strategic goals are formulated for the city. The goals are aligned with the overall mission of AMRUT, which is to improve the quality of life in urban areas.

iv. Preparation of the AMRUT Master Plan: The AMRUT Master Plan is prepared based on the strategic goals formulated in the previous step. The plan includes details of the proposed infrastructure projects, including their scope, cost, and timelines.

v. Approval and implementation: The AMRUT Master Plan is approved by the State Level High Powered Steering Committee (SLHPSC), and funds are allocated for the implementation of the plan. The plan is implemented by the Urban Local Bodies (ULBs) with the support of the State and Central Governments.

1.12 Process of Formulation of GIS-Based Master Plan

Formulating a GIS-based master plan involves a systematic approach that considers several key factors. As per AMRUTs guidelines process that can be followed:

1.13 GIS-Based Approach

Geographical Information System (GIS) for preparation of the Master Plan. The GIS System can be defined as an integrated software package specifically designed for use with geographic data that performs a comprehensive range of data-handling tasks.

Verified RealEstate™

These tasks include data input, storage, retrieval, and output, in addition to a wide variety of descriptive and analytical processes

A GIS-based approach for Master Planning involves using Geographic Information Systems (GIS) technology to analyse and visualize spatial data. GIS technology allows planners to overlay different layers of spatial data, such as land use, transportation networks, environmental features, and population demographics, to create a comprehensive picture of the current conditions and potential development opportunities of a particular area.

The GIS-based approach for master planning involves the following steps:

- Data Collection: Gathering data on various aspects of the area to be planned such as demographics, land use, transportation, utilities, environmental features, etc.
- Data Analysis: Using GIS software to analyse the collected data to identify patterns and relationships between different layers of data.
- Scenario Planning: Creating different scenarios based on the analysis and evaluating their impact on the area's future development.
- Visualization: Using GIS software to create visual representations of the various scenarios and their impact on the area's development.
- Decision-making: Based on the visualization, planners can make informed decisions on the best approach to develop the area.
- Implementation: The final step is the implementation of the chosen master plan, which involves the execution of different development projects in the area.

The use of GIS technology in Master Planning allows planners to make informed decisions based on a comprehensive analysis of spatial data. It also enables stakeholders to visualize the impact of different scenarios on the area's development, promoting transparency and collaboration in the planning process.

2 Background of Study

Verified Re

2.0 BACKGROUND OF THE STUDY

2.1 Background

The GIS-based Master Plan is prepared under AMRUT (Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation) scheme. The mission is to be taken up as a centrally funded reform for 500 AMRUT (Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation) cities the by Ministry for Urban Development, Government of India and to be implemented by State Governments. The Directorate of Town and Country Planning is the State Nodal Agency (SNA) for implementing the scheme in Tamil Nadu State. with a special focus on water supply, sewerage, stormwater drains, green spaces and parks. The mission mandates a set of 11 reforms which have to be implemented by all the states and 500 mission cities within 4 years. One such reform under 'Urban Planning and City Development Plans' is the preparation and implementation of a master plan using GIS. In the above context, the Directorate of Town and Country Planning, Government of Tamil Nadu has awarded the preparation of a GIS-Based Master Plan (MP) Formulation for AMRUT Cities in Tamil Nadu –Salem Local Planning Areas, (A Govt. of India undertaking Company), Ministry of Jal Shakti, Govt. of India.

The formulation of the Master Plan started with the assessment of the existing conditions of the town/cities and accounting for the potential resources and constraints for development. Thereafter, development priorities were set up for the urban area taking into consideration of the socio-economic and other infrastructure needs as per Tamil Nadu Town and Country Planning Act, 1971. The formulation of the Master Plan for the development area started after an analysis of status issues and consideration of the prime issues as indicated in a phased manner.

The Master Plan for Local Planning Areas is prepared for 20 years, considering the various demand of the projected population. This report covers aspects such as the collection and review of sector-wise data on the existing situation. And also study the demand, and supply and identify the gap in the service delivered, assess the environmental conditions, study the traffic situations, and land use pattern, identify existing problems, and potentials, and propose land parcels for various activities.

3.2 GIS based master plan formulation for Salem LPA

GIS plays a pivotal role in decision-making, urban planning, and effective management in urban areas. Its dynamic query capabilities and integration with satellite imagery allow municipalities to generate essential datasets for rapid, comprehensive, and implementable urban plans. GIS empowers urban planners by providing analytical tools to understand geography complexities, identify service gaps, and formulate solutions. As a sophisticated technological tool, GIS serves both analytical and modeling purposes in urban planning. Spatial analysis, a core GIS function, offers insights into the geographical dimensions of urban challenges. Land suitability analysis optimizes land utilization for sustainable urban development. In the formulation of the Tiruvannamalai Local Planning Authority's Master Plan, GIS aids in demand assessment, issue identification, and strategy development, producing base maps, thematic maps, data analysis reports, and the final Master Plan document. 3.4.6 Mining Salem district in Tamil Nadu hosts various minerals, including Magnesite, Bauxite, Quartz, Felspar, Limestone, Dunite, Soapstone, Calcite, Sand, Dolomite, Iron ore, Roughstone, Granites, Gravel, Black Granite, and Multi-Colour Granite. Salem has significant reserves of Magnesite, Bauxite, and Iron Ore, supporting industries like Burn Standard & Co, Dalmia Magnesites, Tata Refractories, and Steel Authority of India Ltd (SAIL). While driving economic growth and employment, these activities also pose environmental challenges, including air pollution and waste disposal. To balance industrial growth and environmental preservation, responsible mining practices and robust environmental management are crucial. Salem's geological diversity highlights the need for sustainable approaches, emphasizing the shared responsibility to ensure responsible utilization of mineral resources aligned with environmental stewardship.

3.4.7 Energy Resources

Salem district's energy landscape is characterized by one thermal power station and two hydroelectric power stations, collectively contributing to a total installed capacity of 110 megawatts (MW). The thermal power station generates electricity by burning fossil fuels, typically coal, to produce steam that drives turbines, while hydroelectric power stations utilize the energy of flowing water to generate electricity.

However, the contribution of non-conventional energy sources, such as solar, wind, or other renewable sources, is currently limited in meeting the power requirements of the district. Non-conventional energy sources are often considered more environmentally sustainable and are crucial for diversifying the energy mix, reducing dependence on fossil fuels, and mitigating environmental impacts. The district might explore further integration of non-conventional energy sources to enhance sustainability and resilience in its energy infrastructure.

4.0 REVIEW OF EXISTING MASTER PLAN

4.1 Overview of Master Plan

Under the Tamil Nadu Town and Country Planning Act 1971, once a local planning area is declared, the local planning authority, constituted under section 11, is mandated to prepare and submit a master plan to the government. This plan, also known as the New Town Development Plan, outlines land use regulations and provides guidelines for orderly development. The master plan involves a comprehensive process addressing physical, social, and economic aspects for the current and foreseeable future. It includes provisions for road networks, bypass roads, and other development aspects. The Master Plan/New Town Development Plan, designed to meet local objectives and improve the quality of life in urban areas, regulates development in the specified town. The department responsible for this initiative has prepared plans for 123 towns, excluding Chennai and certain newly upgraded Municipalities and town panchayats. Periodic reviews of these plans are conducted every five years to ensure their relevance and effectiveness.

4.2 Review Existing of Master Plan 1991-2011

The Salem Local Planning Area, established in 1993, covered 643.17 sq.km with a population of 987,410 in the 1991 census. Preparing the Second Master Plan involves reviewing the First Master Plan and understanding current conditions. The proposed Salem Local Planning Area, as of 2018, is 1312.00 sq.km with an estimated population of 1,895,434 from the 2011 census. Master plan reviews in urban planning occur every five years, adapting to evolving city needs. The process starts with data collection and analysis, considering demographics, technology, economics, environment, and community feedback. Stakeholder engagement involves local authorities, government agencies, urban planners, and the community through workshops, surveys, and consultations. Evaluation of the existing master plan identifies successes, shortcomings, and areas for improvement. Analysis of recent trends, challenges, technological advancements, and growth opportunities anticipates future needs.

Verified RealEstate™

Revisions to the master plan are proposed based on evaluation and stakeholder inputs, addressing land use, infrastructure, transportation, sustainability, and social equity.Environmental impact assessments ensure alignment with sustainability goals, and compliance with laws and regulations is reviewed. Economic implications of proposed changes are assessed for efficient resource allocation. The revised plan is visualized through maps and documentation for easy communication.Master plan reviews serve as comprehensive, collaborative roadmaps for balanced urban development. They ensure cities evolve to meet changing needs while achieving social, economic, and environmental objectives.

4.3 Land Use Pattern

4.3.1 Extent of Salem Local Planning Area

As of 1998, the Salem Local Planning Area (SLPA) covered 643.17 sq.km, with developed land accounting for 11.93% of the area. Within the Salem Corporation, 7.96% of SLPA was developed, leaving 88.07% undeveloped, showcasing areas with potential for future development. Residential land covered 7.60% of the planning area, with residential zones concentrated in historical areas and expanding along major roads in annexed zones. The commercial landscape covered 4.83% of SLPA, primarily located in key areas like Bazaar Street, Agraharam Street, Shevapet, Gugai, and Arisipalayam. Industrial land use, covering 1215 hectares, included mineral-based industries, textile mills, flour mills, steel rolling mills, and paper industries, contributing to economic growth and employment generation. The textile and dyeing sector, with around 120 dyeing industries, plays a significant role in Salem's prominence in the textile and apparel industry. Salem's infrastructure, covering 5.33% of the developed area and 0.6% of the entire SLPA, includes offices, medical institutions, transport hubs, and power stations, supporting the city's civic life and governance. The city's urban tapestry, characterized by historical preservation, strategic expansion, economic diversity, and infrastructure development, requires a holistic and informed urban planning approach for inclusive and sustainable development. Balancing heritage preservation, economic expansion, environmental sustainability, and community welfare is crucial for Salem's unique identity and high quality of life.

4.3.2 Existing Land Use Breakup

The land use breakdown of Salem Corporation and the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) in 1998 provides insights into the city's development trajectory. The proposed 2011 land use plan reflects strategic adjustments to accommodate evolving needs and future goals.

In the proposed plan, residential development takes center stage, rising from 33% to 48.16%, anticipating population growth and addressing housing demands. Commercial and industrial sectors see significant adjustments with proposed allocations of 13.54% and 11.59%, signaling a commitment to economic diversity and growth.Education, public, and semi-public infrastructure also expand in the proposed plan with allocations of 4.85% and 4.51%, emphasizing the city's focus on enhancing educational facilities and essential services. Agricultural land witnesses a planned reduction from 13% to 11%, prioritizing underutilized land development.The total developable area is designated as 21.62% of the total land area, reflecting Salem's vision for planned expansion and growth. The proposed land use plan showcases the city's forward-thinking approach, emphasizing residential expansion, economic diversification, improved infrastructure, and efficient land use for sustainable and inclusive growth.

The Salem Corporation area's urban development pattern is characterized by an intense concentration in the central core, gradually transitioning towards peripheral zones. The central core, situated in the city's central part, serves as the bustling heart housing key administrative, commercial, and residential complexes. This densely populated area acts as the nucleus, radiating connectivity through a well-established network of roads.Moving towards the periphery reveals corridor developments along radial roads extending to the city limits. These radial corridors serve as vital arteries facilitating intra-city and inter-city connectivity, contributing significantly to the city's transportation networks.Development extends beyond the central core and radial corridors to concentrated pockets around settlements classified as 'Urban' based on census data. Settlements like Omalur, Taramangalam, Mallur, Karuppur, Kannankurichi, Ayodyapattinam, Elampillai, and Panamarathupatti function as urban centers within the broader Salem Corporation area. These centers serve as nuclei of growth, housing commercial, residential, and administrative establishments, contributing to economic dynamism and decentralizing urban growth.Designating these areas as urban centers signifies their importance in the city's socio-economic fabric, acting as focal points for trade, cultural exchange, and community engagement. They also serve as crucial nodes for transportation networks, facilitating connectivity within the city and beyond.

4.3.3 Salem Steel Plant New Town Development Plan

The Salem New Town Development Plan, devised in 2006, focuses on the Salem Steel Plant New Town Development Area (NTDA). It aims to establish both short-term and long-term objectives for creating a secure, healthy, and well-illuminated environment. The plan provides directives for governmental bodies, local planning authorities, municipal bodies, private organizations, and individuals, outlining their roles for effective implementation.

Positioned 16 kilometers west of Salem Town, the Salem Steel Plant Project site is located at 11°35′ North Latitude and 78°04′ East Longitude. It is situated between the Salem-Taramangalam Road to the south and the Salem-Elampillai road to the north, at the base of the Kanjamalai hill. The site has excellent connectivity with well-established roadways and railway networks. A 200-feet wide road parallel to the southern stretch of the Salem-Taramangalam Road connects the site to NH 7, a significant national highway. Additionally, a broad gauge railway line efficiently links the site to the Salem junction, ensuring robust accessibility via rail transportation.

The proposed land-use plan envisions a comprehensive transformation, allocating 416.63 hectares for residential, commercial, industrial, and educational purposes. Notable sectors include 1,050 hectares for residential use and 1,250 hectares for industrial expansion, constituting 24.07% of the total designated area. This strategic reallocation reflects a balanced approach to urban development.

4.4 Development Strategies in Existing Master Plan

Salem's geographical features, characterized by hillocks in the southwestern and northern directions, have influenced the city's development. Predominantly expanding in the northwestern, southwestern, southern, and eastern directions, the development aligns with major highways leading to Bangalore, Coimbatore, Namakkal, and Attur. This pattern is shaped by National Highways, bypass roads, educational institutions, and industrial zones in the northwestern and southwestern regions. Corridor development towards the east and south, particularly along Salem-Ulundrupet Road (NH 68) and Namakkal Road (NH 7), serves as pivotal axes for urban expansion and infrastructure development, enhancing connectivity. With the population in the Salem local planning area growing from 9.87 lakhs in 1991 to 13 lakhs in 2011, determining the urban form becomes crucial for guiding sustainable development in line with evolving needs and demographic changes.

Examination of the development is done based on the groped into variety of strategies and based on the choice of particular site for the development would be to some extent depend upon which of those of strategies is considered most desirable, the strategies of development take up for the examination are,

1. The dispersal forms
2. The centralized form
3. Development along radial corridors

4.5 Proposed form of development

The existing master plan for Salem envisions two primary development strategies: dispersal and centralized form. The dispersal approach directs new development towards self-sufficient neighborhoods along national highways, aiming to prevent urban sprawl and preserve green spaces. This strategy promotes efficient transportation networks and connectivity while fostering sustainable growth. In contrast, the centralized form focuses on Salem as the central point for development, expanding outward in concentric circles. This approach consolidates urbanization efforts around Salem, creating a unified urban core and optimizing resource utilization for organized growth.Another concept involves development along radial corridors, where urban nodes are strategically clustered for centralized development. This model prioritizes public transportation and aligns with contemporary trends emphasizing sustainable mobility.

The proposed form of development for the Salem Local Planning Area (SLPA) integrates elements from both centralized and dispersed models. It follows the prevailing pattern along the city's radial corridors, emphasizing accessibility and resource optimization. This hybrid approach aims to balance concentrated and decentralized growth, accommodating the evolving needs of the community for a cohesive and balanced urban environment.

4.6 Indicators Reviewed in Existing Master Plan

The reviewed indicators in the existing master plan cover various facets crucial for urban development. These indicators include demography, economy, traffic and transportation, housing, open spaces and recreation, tourism and heritage, religious sites, and governance. They provide a comprehensive overview of essential aspects necessary for planning and improving urban areas.

i. Demography examines population trends, growth rates, and demographic compositions, aiding in understanding the city's population dynamics to shape future policies effectively.
ii. The economic indicator offers insights into the city's economic health, encompassing employment rates, industries, and economic growth, guiding strategies for sustainable economic development.
iii. Traffic and transportation indicators focus on evaluating the city's mobility infrastructure, including road networks, public transit systems, and traffic flow, vital for enhancing urban connectivity and mobility.
iv. Housing indicators address housing availability, affordability, and quality, guiding policies to ensure adequate housing for diverse socio-economic groups.

Verified RedEstate TM

v. Open space and recreational indicators assess the availability and utilization of public parks, green spaces, and recreational facilities, crucial for community well-being and leisure.

vi. Tourism and heritage indicators emphasize the preservation of cultural heritage sites and their role in promoting tourism, guiding strategies for sustainable heritage preservation and tourism development.

vii. Religious places indicators evaluate the accessibility and significance of religious sites, crucial cultural landmarks that contribute to the city's fabric.

viii. Governance indicators assess administrative efficiency, public service delivery, and citizen engagement, crucial for effective governance and inclusive urban development.

The demographic distribution between urban and rural areas provides a foundation for informed urban planning, resource allocation, and community well-being. This analysis serves as a valuable resource for policymakers and urban planners shaping Salem's future development.

The concentration of population around Tharamangalam and Edangasalai municipal areas, Salem Corporation, and NH 44 results from a confluence of historical significance, economic opportunities, and strategic location. These areas, acting as vital municipal hubs, likely possess historical importance, contributing to their prominence. Economic opportunities, such as thriving industries and job prospects, attract individuals, while the strategic location near NH 44 enhances accessibility and connectivity. Understanding these factors is crucial for effective urban planning, infrastructure development, and meeting the evolving needs of the population in these areas.

5.2.2 Population Growth in Salem Corporation

As of 2021, Salem Municipal Corporation's population has risen to 966,191, marking a significant growth from 829,297 in 2011, with a notable decadal growth rate of 16.50%. The city, covering just 2% of the district's area, houses over a quarter of the entire district's population, highlighting its role as a demographic focal point. The higher birth rate in Salem City indicates a trend of a potentially growing and youthful population, impacting various aspects of urban planning. The surge in population suggests the city's appeal, driven by economic activities, employment opportunities, and urban amenities. Managing this growth efficiently for sustainable development and residents' quality of life becomes a crucial responsibility for the municipality. Over the decades, the demographic evolution of Salem City has been closely tied to administrative upgrades and expansions. In 1991, the population was 3.67 lakhs, and the transformation into a Corporation in 1994 led to significant expansion, increasing the population to 6.97 lakhs by 2001. Administrative upgrades, such as the shift to Corporation status, often result in the inclusion of peripheral areas, contributing to immediate population growth. Historical growth rates reveal peaks during specific Salem's demographic journey from 1901 to 2011 showcases consistent growth, rising from 793,641 to 3,482,056, with fluctuating growth rates influenced by urbanization, healthcare improvements, and economic opportunities. The central business district, centered around the City Bus Stand, acts as the city's nucleus, with major transport corridors extending from it. Constraints in the North-east (Yercaud Hill) and South-east (forest area) guide land use patterns, demanding thoughtful planning to balance growth with environmental concerns. Key urban nodes like Omalur and Tharamangalam, alongside land use distribution, reflect factors such as outward expansion of commercial zones, strategic placement of educational institutions, and dispersed industrial areas contributing to economic diversity. City planners face the challenge of managing diverse needs within defined boundaries, emphasizing sustainable development to preserve Salem's physiography, ecosystems, and cultural heritage. Efforts to enhance residents' quality of life include considerations for green spaces, recreational areas, efficient transportation systems, and the integration of smart technologies.

In 2021, Salem Municipal Corporation exhibited a nearly equal gender distribution, with males at 49.97% and females at 50.02%. This underscores the importance of integrating gender-sensitive considerations in urban planning. Achieving gender parity requires targeted initiatives for comprehensive planning that addresses the diverse needs of both genders. In the broader urban Local Planning Area (LPA), females slightly outnumber males at 51%, while Salem Municipal Corporation achieves a perfect gender balance at 50%. Understanding localized demographic patterns is crucial for targeted urban planning and policy implementation.

From 2001 to 2011, the Salem district experienced a 1.3% population growth, while the LPA outpaced this with a 2% growth rate. Examining growth trends within the LPA reveals a distinctive pattern—a rise in 2011, contrasting with a decline in 2001. These nuanced variations, along with upgrades in certain rural areas, highlight the complex interplay of factors influencing population trends within different administrative units of the Salem district. This emphasizes the need for understanding these patterns in urban planning and development initiatives.

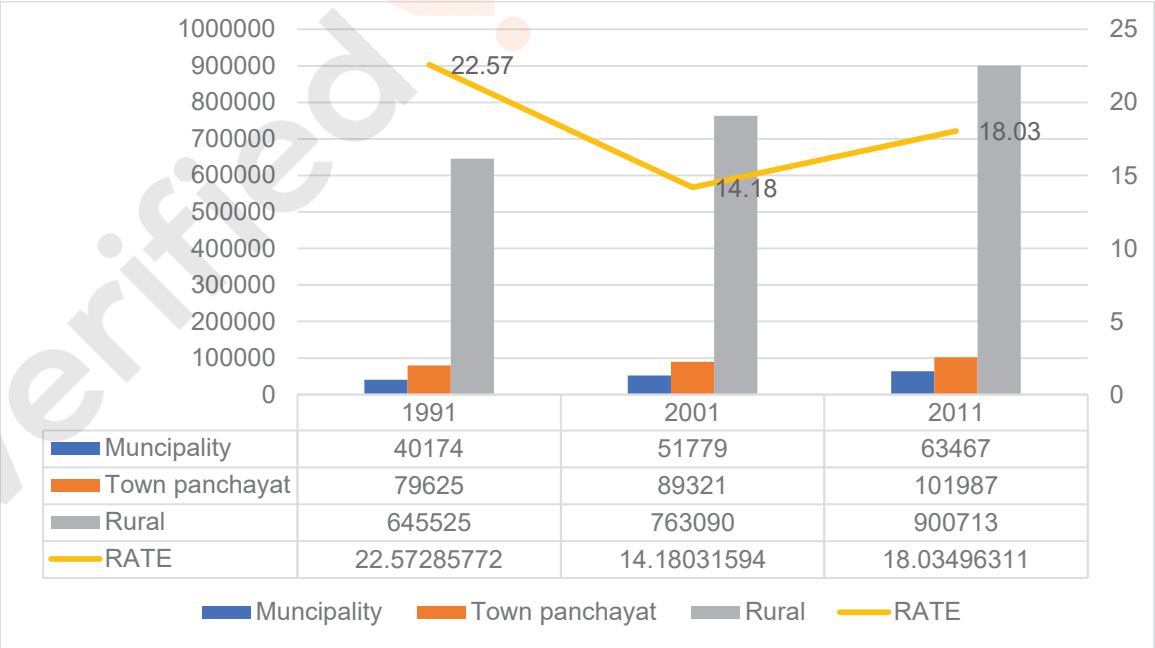

5.2.3 Population Growth in Salem LPA

The Salem district experienced a population growth of approximately 1.3% from 2001 to 2011. Interestingly, the Local Planning Area (LPA) outpaced the district's growth, exhibiting a higher growth rate of 2%. Delving into the growth trends within the LPA reveals a distinctive pattern—an increase in the growth rate in 2011, contrasting with a decline in 2001. This unique trend becomes even more evident when compared with other administrative units, including municipalities, town panchayats, and rural areas within the district.

Furthermore, the intriguing dynamics are highlighted by certain rural areas undergoing upgrades, contributing to the overall growth dynamics of the region. These nuanced variations in growth rates underscore the complex interplay of factors influencing population trends within different administrative units of the Salem district. Understanding these patterns is crucial for effective urban planning and development, ensuring that initiatives align with the evolving demographic landscape. Municipalities within the Salem district have shown significant growth, expanding 1.5 times in 2011 compared to 2001. This intricate demographic landscape underscores the necessity for nuanced and strategic planning. The district's varied growth trajectories across municipalities, town panchayats, and rural areas highlight the evolving dynamics within both urban and rural segments. Acknowledging these diverse patterns becomes crucial for effective and responsive urban planning, ensuring that development initiatives cater to the specific needs and challenges associated with different administrative units.

Between 1991 and 2011, the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) underwent significant demographic changes, witnessing substantial growth in both urban and rural populations. The urban population expanded impressively by 19.59%, increasing from 697,128 to 1,194,918. Simultaneously, the rural population experienced notable growth, rising from 513,168 to 700,516, registering a growth rate of 16.40%. Combining both urban and rural segments, the total LPA population increased from 1,210,296 in 1991 to 1,895,434 in 2011, reflecting an overall growth rate of 18.30%.

Examining gender distribution in Salem LPA, a nuanced pattern is evident, with males constituting 49% and females comprising 51% of the total population. Further analysis within the rural areas of the LPA reveals a slight shift, with males accounting for 48% and females representing 52%. These subtle variations underscore the importance of tailored urban and rural development strategies, emphasizing the need for inclusive policies that address the unique demographic patterns in different segments of the Salem LPA. Such insights are crucial for implementing effective and responsive development initiatives that cater to the diverse needs of both urban and rural populations. The demographic landscape in the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) presents a mosaic of growth patterns across various regions, each influenced by distinct factors. Notably, Kottaikavundanpatti emerges as a focal point, experiencing an elevated growth rate that acts as a magnet, attracting population outflows from Salem Corporation. This phenomenon suggests the presence of potential economic or residential incentives in Kottaikavundanpatti, driving population movement.

Conversely, Kullanampatti and Pumandapatti showcase heightened growth, and this can be attributed to their strategic location in close proximity to the Salem steel plant.

The presence of such an industrial facility likely catalyzes economic opportunities and infrastructure development in these areas, making them attractive for residential settlement. However, a contrasting scenario unfolds in thirty-one villages within the Salem LPA, where a negative growth rate indicates challenges or limitations affecting population dynamics. These challenges could be diverse, including factors such as limited economic opportunities, inadequate infrastructure, or environmental considerations. Understanding these localized growth patterns is crucial for urban planners and policymakers to formulate targeted strategies that address the specific needs and challenges of each region within the Salem LPA. It emphasizes the importance of nuanced and context-specific planning to promote sustainable and inclusive development across the diverse landscapes of the Salem region

5.3 Population density

. Elevated population density, a measure of the concentration of people within a given geographical area, introduces a complex interplay of challenges and opportunities. On one hand, higher population density places increased demands on infrastructure and the environment. The surge in human activity, housing, transportation, and resource consumption can strain existing systems, leading to issues such as traffic congestion, increased waste generation, and greater pressure on natural resources.

Verified RedEstate™

Conversely, higher population density can also bring about certain advantages, particularly in the provision of public goods and services. As more people inhabit a defined space, the per capita costs associated with supplying essential services like public transportation, healthcare, and education tend to decrease. This is attributed to the efficient use of resources and the economies of scale that can be achieved in densely populated areas.

The calculation of population density involves dividing the total population by the geographical area. This quantitative measure provides insights into the concentration of people within a specific space and serves as a valuable metric for urban planning, resource allocation, and sustainable development. Striking a balance between the challenges and benefits of elevated population density is crucial for creating resilient and vibrant urban environments that can meet the needs of their residents while ensuring the responsible use of resources and environmental sustainability.

5.3.1 Comparison of population density

The Local Planning Area (LPA) of Salem exhibits a notable population density of 1445 persons per square kilometer, surpassing both district and state averages. Higher density is concentrated around key transport junctions, like Wards 53, 57, 34, 47, 50, and 59, indicating heightened urban development and human activity. This spatial pattern is crucial for strategic urban planning, guiding resource allocation and infrastructure development.

In the Corporation area, covering 91.34 square kilometers, the population density is 9377 persons per square kilometer, emphasizing the intensity of urban activities and the demand for services and infrastructure. Understanding these density patterns guides tailored interventions and ensures sustainable urban development.

Adjacent to pivotal transport junctions, the Corporation area, particularly Kondalampatti along major transport corridors, exhibits elevated population density. The Corporation, with its compact 91.34 square kilometers, manifests a striking density of 9377 persons per square kilometer, indicating a densely populated urban hub. In emphasizing the dispersion of residents across a vast geographical expanse. These diverse density patterns underscore the need for nuanced planning strategies that account for the distinct demographic dynamics within each administrative unit, ensuring effective resource allocation and tailored development approaches

The variations in population density reflect the different stages and nature of development across urban, semi-urban, and rural areas, necessitating targeted interventions to address specific challenges and opportunities in each context.

5.4 Sex Ratio

The sex ratio, denoting the number of females per 1000 males, is a crucial metric for assessing demographic balance. In Salem District, there was a notable improvement in the sex ratio between 2001 and 2011. Starting at 929 in 2001, below the state average of 987, it rose to 954 in 2011, surpassing the national average of 943.Despite this positive trend, Salem District ranked as the second lowest among state districts, highlighting persistent challenges in achieving optimal gender balance. This emphasizes the need for continuous efforts to address socio-economic factors influencing gender disparities and implement targeted interventions for a more equitable demographic landscape.

Ongoing efforts are crucial to enhance awareness, implement policies, and foster socio-economic conditions that support gender equality, contributing to a more balanced and harmonious demographic composition. Examining specific regions within Salem, the sex ratios for Salem LPA and Salem Municipal Corporation are 968 and 987, respectively, both notably lower than the state's sex ratio of 996. Notable disparities are observed at the village level, with Thondumaniyam recording the lowest sex ratio of 809 and Pallitherupatti having the highest at 1062. Furthermore, Indicating a less balanced demographic distribution, the sex ratio in the LPA rural area is 924, compared to 972 in the LPA urban area. The chart below illustrates the demographic balance within the LPA, emphasizing the relative weakness in the rural areas. The child sex ratio in the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) is a noteworthy indicator of gender distribution among children, showcasing a commendable ratio of 937. This surpasses not only the district average of 898 but also the state and national averages of 943 and 919, respectively. While reflecting a positive overall trend, it's crucial to examine localized variations at the village level within the Salem LPA.

5.5 Literacy Ratio

The literacy rate is a crucial indicator of educational progress and overall development. In Salem District, the data from 2001 showed a literacy rate of 65.1%, trailing behind the state average of 73.5% and the national average of 64.8%. Gender disparities were evident, with female literacy rates lagging.By 2011, there was a positive shift, with the district's literacy rate improving to 73.2%. While significant, it remained below the state average of 80.1%, emphasizing the need for continued efforts to enhance educational outcomes. Encouragingly, there was a positive uptick in female literacy rates in 2011, indicating progress in narrowing the gender gap in education.These trends highlight the importance of sustained efforts to improve educational infrastructure, promote literacy programs, and address gender disparities. The positive momentum, especially among females, signifies a step in the right direction for the overall growth and development of Salem District. Ongoing initiatives to further improve educational accessibility and quality are crucial for fostering a more educated and empowered community.

The educational landscape within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), as depicted by the 2011 census data, presents a nuanced picture with various facets.

Verified RealEstate™

The overall literacy rate in the Salem LPA is reported at 75.5%. However, a gender gap is evident, with males exhibiting a higher literacy rate of 82.13% compared to females at 68.59%. This gender disparity highlights the need for targeted interventions to address educational inequalities and promote inclusivity within the region.

Notably, the Salem Municipal Corporation outperforms the LPA with a commendable literacy rate of 84.4%. This suggests a higher concentration of educational resources and opportunities within the municipal corporation, reflecting a more favourable educational environment.

Within the LPA, specific areas showcase distinctive literacy rates. Kottagoundampatty stands out with an impressive literacy rate of 86%, indicating a relatively higher level of educational attainment in that locality. On the other hand, Puthur reports the lowest literacy rate at 44.7%, emphasizing the existence of significant variations in educational achievements across different areas within the Salem LPA.

These variations underscore the importance of targeted educational initiatives and policies to address the specific needs and challenges faced by different communities within the Salem LPA. Efforts to bridge gender gaps, improve overall literacy rates, and address localized disparities can contribute to fostering a more equitable and educated society within the broader Salem region.

The data indicating that 179 villages within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) fall below the national average literacy rate is indeed a cause for concern. This revelation emphasizes the urgent need for targeted and focused educational interventions to uplift the educational standards in these specific areas.

The provided table, serving as a valuable tool for comparative analysis, enables a deeper understanding of the diverse educational landscapes within the state and district. Comparative analysis is crucial for identifying trends, patterns, and disparities that exist across different regions. Insights drawn from such analyses can inform policymakers and educators about the specific challenges faced by communities with lower literacy rates, enabling the formulation of strategies tailored to address the unique needs of these areas.

These insights are pivotal in the formulation of comprehensive strategies aimed at addressing educational inequalities and promoting inclusive development within the Salem LPA. By identifying areas that require specific attention and resources, policymakers can channel efforts to improve access to quality education, enhance literacy rates, and foster a more equitable educational landscape across the diverse communities within the Salem LPA.

5.6 Scheduled Cast and Scheduled Tribe Population

In Salem District, the Scheduled Caste (SC) population percentage is 16.7%, exceeding both the district and national averages. However, within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), the SC percentage is slightly lower at 18.5% compared to the state and district figures. This regional variation emphasizes the need for nuanced understanding of social dynamics at different geographical scales.

Urban areas within the Salem LPA show a significantly higher SC population percentage at 13.2%, in contrast to the lower 3.5% observed in rural areas. This disparity underscores the impact of urbanization on SC population distribution. Urban areas, serving as economic and social hubs, attract diverse populations, potentially contributing to a higher concentration of SC communities. Policymakers should

The notable presence of the Scheduled Caste (SC) population, constituting 12.8% in the Salem Municipal Corporation within the Local Planning Area (LPA), underscores the need for targeted policies and social initiatives in urban centers. This concentration emphasizes the unique needs of SC communities in urban settings, necessitating specialized interventions related to education, employment, healthcare, and social welfare. Acknowledging this concentration allows policymakers to tailor initiatives to the socio-economic and cultural context of SC populations within urban areas, particularly within the Municipal Corporation. This nuanced approach aims to promote social inclusion, reduce disparities, and foster the overall development of the SC population in Salem's urban landscape.

5.7 Population Projection

The analysis of population trends in Salem district, spanning the years 1991, 2001, and 2011, serves as a crucial foundation for understanding the intricate demographic dynamics of the region. To facilitate a comprehensive examination, the study employs a thoughtful categorization into urban and rural zones, designating Salem Corporation as the urban component within the Local Planning Area (LPA), while the remaining Village Panchayats constitute the rural LPA.

In preparation for anticipated demographic shifts, the study adopts five distinctive methodologies for population forecasting, setting the year 2021 as the focal point. These methodologies encompass the Arithmetic Mean, Geometric Progression, Incremental Increase, Logistic Curve, and Semi-log approaches. Each methodology offers a unique lens through which to project population trends, providing a nuanced and comprehensive assessment of the potential demographic landscape in 2021. This forward-looking analysis is positioned as a valuable tool for policymakers, urban planners, and stakeholders actively engaged in the development and governance of Salem district. By gaining insights into and foreseeing population trends, decision-makers can make informed choices regarding infrastructure development, resource allocation, and policy formulation that align with the evolving needs of the population. Moreover, the incorporation of multiple forecasting methodologies enhances the robustness of the study, offering a more holistic view of potential demographic scenarios within the specified timeframe.

5.7.1 Population projection methods

Population projection methods are essential tools in demography for estimating future population sizes based on historical data and growth trends. In Salem district, various methodologies have been used to project population figures for 2041:

Arithmetic Mean Method:

- Computed by averaging population increases over three decades.
- Assumes a constant average growth rate over the specified period.

Geometric Progression Method:

- Assumes a constant percentage increase in population from decade to decade.
- Projects future populations at the calculated constant rate of percentage increase.

Incremental Increase Method:

- Modified arithmetic method considering incremental variations.
- Uses both average increase and average incremental increase for each decade.

Logistic Curve Method:

- Considers the entire growth trajectory from initiation to saturation.
- Calculates projections separately for birth rate, death rate, and immigration rate.

Semi-Log Method:

- Combines graphical representation with mathematical modeling.

Verified RealEstate™

- Useful for understanding exponential or logarithmic growth.

Application of Multiple Methods:

- Adopts a meticulous approach, differentiating between urban and rural areas.
- Employs various projection methods for a nuanced understanding of demographic changes.

The culmination of these efforts results in a comprehensive summary table consolidating population projections from diverse methodologies. This resource aids planners in understanding anticipated population trends. The use of multiple methods adds sophistication to the analysis, enabling planners to identify distinct growth patterns. The Arithmetic method yielded projections for each segment, indicating figures for Corporation, CT, TP, and Villages. Similarly, the Geometric method provided estimates for the same segments. The Incremental method and Semi-log method were also employed, each producing population projections for Salem Corporation and its subdivisions. Comparative analyses of these methods revealed that, based on historical growth trends, the Arithmetic Projection method is deemed suitable for the overall Local Planning Area (LPA) population projections.

5.7.2 Validation

The population projection exercise utilized various methods—Arithmetic, Geometric, Incremental, and Semi-log—to estimate future populations for Salem Corporation, CT (City and Town), TP (Town Panchayats), and Villages. Comparative analyses revealed that, considering historical growth trends, the Arithmetic Projection method proved most suitable for projecting the overall Local Planning Area (LPA) population. This method aligns well with established growth patterns and dynamics, emphasizing the importance of selecting an appropriate method tailored to the area's historical context. The examination of growth rates within the Municipality and other LPA areas highlighted notable variations. Validating projections for the Municipality, Villages, and Census towns for 2001, 2011, and 2020 confirmed the consistency of the Arithmetic Projection method with overall LPA projections. This validation process reinforces the method's appropriateness for forecasting future populations based on historical growth trends.

The provided table offers population projections for the Municipality, facilitating a comparative analysis with actual census data for 2001 and 2011. This comparison validates the accuracy and reliability of the Arithmetic Projection method in capturing the Municipality's population dynamics over specified timeframes. This validation contributes to a more informed and reliable projection framework for the overall LPA.

Various population projection methods were crucial tools for forecasting demographic changes within Salem Corporation and the broader Local Planning Area (LPA) from 2001 to 2011. The Arithmetic Mean method projected notable growth in Salem Corporation, reaching 829,267, and for the LPA, an increase to 2,961,601. In contrast, the Geometric Progression method suggested steady growth for Salem Corporation, while the LPA maintained a relatively constant population of 2,399,561.183.

The Incremental Increase method, a modification of the arithmetical increase method, indicated a decline in Salem Corporation's population but an increase in the LPA. The Semi-Log method, utilizing a graph, suggested substantial growth for both segments, emphasizing a dynamic scenario. These diverse projections collectively offer a comprehensive view of potential demographic scenarios, recognizing the complexity

7.2.3 Bus terminus

Salem LPA features two primary bus terminals: the central bus terminal located on Omalur Road and the city bus terminal situated on V-market. The central bus terminal predominantly operates inter-city buses, with approximately 2900 intercity bus services daily and over one lakh passengers utilizing this facility each day. Spanning an area of around 10 acres, the central bus terminal is situated within the city; however, the terminal area is becoming inadequate to accommodate the growing demand.

As a consequence, there is a spill-over effect, with terminal activities encroaching onto adjacent roads, causing congestion and disorder in the surrounding area. In light of these challenges, it is recommended to transform the central bus terminal into an intra-city bus terminal. The proposal involves establishing three new directional terminals strategically positioned across the city. To alleviate the transition, regular shuttle services are proposed from the bus terminal to various locations within the city, aiming to enhance efficiency and mitigate congestion concerns.

7.3.1 Traffic Composition

The traffic composition on Salem's roads reveals a notable prevalence of two-wheelers, signifying a high share in the overall vehicular distribution. The growing presence of cars also suggests an increasing reliance on individual modes of transportation, pointing to potential gaps in the public transport system. The inadequate provision of pedestrian facilities and footpaths across the city exacerbates the situation, especially during festivals when pedestrian traffic reaches substantial levels. The absence or insufficiency of such facilities underscores the critical need for their enhancement to ensure the safety and convenience of pedestrians, aligning with the city's evolving traffic dynamics.

Furthermore, the absence of off-street parking facilities contributes to chaotic on-street parking practices, leading to road congestion. The escalating dimensions of parking-related challenges in Salem underscore the urgent need for substantial augmentation of parking facilities. In the long term, the city should consider implementing a comprehensive, city-wide public transport system. This initiative aims not only to alleviate road congestion but also to reduce the overall demand for parking, promoting a more sustainable and efficient urban mobility framework.

7.3.2 Modal share

A positive shift in the share of transportation modes, characterized by an increase in the prevalence of Public Transport and Non-Motorized Transport (NMT) modes, coupled with a corresponding decrease in the modal share of private modes, signifies a transformative and sustainable trajectory for the future.

The comprehensive household survey conducted in the study area reveals a total of approximately 28.2 lakh daily trips. Breaking down the distribution of these trips by modes of transportation, it is observed that around 80% are vehicular trips, while the remaining 20% constitute walk trips. The per capita trip rate, considering both walking and other modes, is calculated at 1.1, whereas excluding walk trips, it stands at 0.9 in the study area.

Noteworthy is the observation that the public transport sector in the city is primarily served by autos and shared autos, contributing to 15% of the total trips, while buses account for 6.4%. The majority of trips, comprising about 42%, are conducted using private modes of transportation, including cars, two-wheelers, and cycles. This mode distribution highlights the prevalent transportation patterns in the study area, emphasizing the substantial reliance on private vehicles alongside notable contributions from autos and shared autos in catering to public transport needs.

7.3.3 Volume count

Traffic volume surveys were systematically conducted in the study area, encompassing 10 intersections and 8 Mid Block/Screen Line Locations during an average weekday. This comprehensive survey involved meticulously recorded 15-minute interval direction-wise classified traffic volume counts for each movement at the intersections, spanning a continuous 16-hour period from 0600 hours to 2200 hours, representing a typical working day. The specific survey dates are detailed in Annexure 2.1, providing a transparent record of the data collection time.

Conducting a meticulous traffic volume survey, both inner and outer cordons were meticulously examined on a fair-weather working day spanning 24 hours within the period of January 2022 to February 2022. The specifics of the surveys, including the locations, duration, timing, and dates, have been meticulously documented and can be referenced in Annexure 2.1 for comprehensive transparency and accountability.

Verified RealEstate™

The selection of survey locations was deliberately made to encompass the inner-city boundary for the inner cordon and extend to the study area boundary for the outer cordon. This thoughtful selection aims to provide a thorough and representative understanding of traffic patterns both within the city limits and in the broader study area, laying a robust foundation for subsequent analyses and strategic planning initiatives.

The evaluation of various roads in the study area involves a comprehensive analysis of their capacity, volume, Volume/Capacity (V/C) ratio, and the resulting Level of Service (LOS). Examining specific road segments, the NH-44-Darapuram Road near Mallur exhibits a volume of 2889 against a capacity of 3600, yielding a V/C ratio of 0.80 and placing it in Level of Service D, indicating a satisfactory but slightly congested condition. On the NH-79-Salem-Attur Main Road near Muttampatti, with a volume of 2479 compared to a capacity of 3600, the V/C ratio is 0.69, positioning it at Level of Service C, signifying a relatively smooth flow with occasional congestion.

Similarly, the NH 544-Salem-Sankari-Coimbatore Road near Magudanchavadi Helipad sees a V/C ratio of 0.58, reflecting a balanced traffic flow and a Level of Service B. Conversely, the Omalur-Konganpuram SH 86 and Yercaud Road SH 188 exhibit V/C ratios exceeding 1.00, placing them in Level of Service F, indicating an overcapacity scenario with significant congestion.

Table 32: Levels of Service through V/C Ratios

V/C Ratio	Level of service	Traffic State and Condition
0.35	A	Free flow
0.5	B	Stable flow with unaffected traffic
0.7	C	Stable flow with affected traffic
0.9	D	High Density with Stale flow
1	E	Capacity level Low Speed
>1.00	F	Break down flow

Source: Comprehensive Mobility Plan for Salem LPA 2022

The Volume/Capacity (V/C) ratio serves as a crucial indicator of traffic conditions, categorizing the road network into distinct levels of service based on their operational efficiency. A V/C ratio of 0.35 corresponds to Level of Service A, depicting a state of free-flowing traffic. At 0.5 (Level of Service B), the flow remains stable with no discernible impact on traffic. Level of Service C (V/C ratio of 0.7) indicates stable flow but with noticeable effects on traffic.

As the V/C ratio increases to 0.9, the system enters Level of Service D, characterized by high density and a stagnant flow. Further deterioration is observed at Level of Service E (V/C ratio > 1.00), where capacity is low, and speeds are significantly reduced. Beyond this threshold, Level of Service F signifies a breakdown in flow, indicating severe congestion and compromised traffic conditions.

8.0 PHYSICAL INFRASTRUCTURE

8.1 Water Supply

The Central Public Health and Environmental Engineering Organization (CPHEEO) guidelines advocate a per capita water supply of 135 LPCD for cities equipped with an underground sewerage system (UGSS) and 90 LPCD for those without UGSS. Salem town's initial water supply scheme, launched in 1911 to cater to a population of 1 lakh, sourced water from Panamarthupatti lake, providing 5 gallons per capita per day (gpcd). However, challenges such as monsoon failures, reduced lake water inflow, and encroachments led to the abandonment of this source in 1982.

8.1.1 Municipal water supply

Salem's water supply has evolved from the Mettur-Salem Scheme in the 1950s to the Salem-Attur combined scheme in the 1990s, facing challenges in meeting the current demand of 65-70 MLD against the needed 110 MLD. The Dedicated Water Supply Scheme aims to address shortages and align with CPHEEO standards. With 215,314 households overseen by Salem Municipal Corporation, comprehensive access to drinking water within the Local Planning Area (LPA) is crucial.

Salem's water supply infrastructure includes treated and untreated tap water, well water, hand pumps, tube wells, bore wells, and natural sources. The new water supply scheme utilizes water from the River Cauvery via the Mettur dam, ensuring a per capita supply rate of 135 LPCD with a frequency of supply every 2-3 daysThe dedicated water supply scheme, featuring a Water Treatment Plant at Thottilpatti and a pipeline aligned with the Salem-Attur scheme, optimizes resource utilization for efficient water distribution, emphasizing sustainability and resilience in water management.

Salem's rural expanse, comprising 198 Village Panchayats and 24 census towns, employs a decentralized water supply approach, relying on localized bore wells strategically placed within Village Panchayats and the Mettur drinking water scheme. These bore wells cater to specific village needs, contributing to a reliable and community-centric water supply. The centralized yet integrated Mettur drinking water scheme plays a crucial role in ensuring consistent and quality water supply, complementing the decentralized approach in Salem's rural areas.

Salem's rural water supply infrastructure is the strategic use of Overhead Tanks (OHTs) for storing water extracted from bore wells and open wells. These OHTs, strategically placed across villages, function as reservoirs, ensuring equitable access to water and promoting a balanced and sustainable distribution system.

In Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), a meticulous approach to Overhead Tank (OHT) capacities was undertaken, involving averaging capacities across surveyed villages to representatively estimate storage needs. With the existing water supply at 59.1 MLD and a constant storage capacity of 101.1 MLD, addressing the growing demand-supply gap is crucial, requiring 2.9 Ha. for water augmentation from 2031 to 2041. Despite offering an average of 65 LPCD, slightly below CPHEEO standards, Village Panchayats in Salem ensure daily water supply for 1 hour, following an alternate-day distribution strategy (every two to four days) to ensure systematic and equitable water access while managing resource challenges and demand fluctuations.

8.1.3 Water suppply demand Analysis

The Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), comprising urban and rural sectors, mandates a differentiated approach in determining Liters Per Capita per Day (LPCD) to address distinct characteristics. Separate analyses for urban and rural sectors ensure consideration of unique needs and consumption patterns, providing a comprehensive understanding of current limitations and enabling effective forecasting. Evaluating the existing gap in water supply, coupled with future demand projections, facilitates tailored and efficient water resource management strategies, ensuring the diverse communities in the LPA receive adequate and sustainable water supply.

8.1.4 Gap analysis for Salem Corporation and Salem rest LPA

The water supply standard for rural areas is set at 70 LPCD by CPHEEO, while the current level in Salem stands at 65 LPCD. The table's red highlighting emphasizes deficits in the water supply for 2021, urging strategic planning and infrastructure development to address shortfalls and align rural water supply with recommended standards for sustainable and sufficient access in 2031 and 2041. This underscores Highlighted in red, the additional requirement emphasizes the need for strategic planning and infrastructure development to ensure rural water supply aligns with recommended standards for sustainable access in the future.

8.1.5 Future Demand

The above analysis clearly indicates a significant gap in the current water supply service. The subsequent table presents a cumulative overview of the future requirements for the Local Planning Area (LPA) concerning water supply, with the additional requirement highlighted in red, signifying a deficit in the water supply. This underscores the imperative need for strategic planning and infrastructure development to bridge the existing gap and meet the growing demands for water supply in the region effectively.

8.2 Underground sewerage system

The implementation of Salem's Underground Sewerage Scheme is progressing in two strategic phases, with an initial focus on the core area and an estimated cost of Rs. 190 crores. The Chief Minister's Allocation has granted an initial sanction of Rs. 3,375 crores, reflecting a substantial commitment to enhancing the city's sanitation infrastructure. The comprehensive approach includes three sites earmarked for sewage treatment plants, with Packages I & III completed as of July 19, 2021, achieving significant milestones such as sewer line installation, manhole construction, and house service connection pipes laying. While the project has made substantial progress, the momentum continues with the tendering of the remaining work, signaling a dedication to realizing the Underground Sewerage Scheme's full potential.

The initiative aligns with broader urban development goals, contributing to Salem's overall sanitation and environmental sustainability. The tender process initiation on

According to the latest update from Geo Portal for Urban missions, Swatch Barat Mission has covered 10 public toilets, 126 community toilets, 4638 Individual household toilets (IHHL) and 44 Solid waste management treatment plants in the Salem city municipal corporation. List of community toilets and public toilets are annexed as Annexure 4 and 5 respectively.

8.3.2 Rural sanitation

The Salem Local Planning Authority (LPA) addresses the sanitation needs of approximately 182,592 rural households without a dedicated sewerage system, relying on septic tanks and drains. This diverse landscape sees 67% of rural households with individual toilet facilities, while the rest depend on public or community toilets. The impactful Swachh Bharat Mission - Gramin has significantly contributed, constructing 155,973 toilets from 2016 to 2021, targeting Below Poverty Line (BPL) families.

Recognizing this, the Corporation invests ₹1.50 crore in renovating and constructing such facilities, fostering community engagement and promoting a decentralized approach to rural sanitation management. The presence of 288 public toilets, managed by village Panchayats, exemplifies community-driven initiatives, contributing to elevated sanitation standards, improved public health, and addressing challenges faced by households without private amenities.

Community-Driven Sanitation for a Healthier Environment:

The decentralized nature of these initiatives, led by village Panchayats, underscores the effectiveness of community-driven approaches in addressing local challenges. By actively participating in the oversight and sustainability of public toilets, communities contribute to the overall improvement of sanitation infrastructure, creating a positive impact on the lives of rural residents.

As Salem's rural areas continue to evolve, the commitment to community-driven sanitation initiatives reinforces the notion that sustainable progress is best achieved through collaborative efforts, community engagement, and a shared vision for a cleaner and healthier living environment.

The Salem Local Planning Authority (LPA), addressing the crucial need for a well-structured stormwater drainage system in rural areas is paramount. Currently reliant on open drains, covering approximately 655 km, and with a notable 12.5% gap in coverage, there's an evident requirement for strategic planning. Integrating stormwater drainage with road infrastructure is a positive stride, constituting 87.56% of the total road length, yet concerted efforts are essential to close the identified gap. Strategic planning, prioritizing vulnerable locations, and community awareness are vital for comprehensive and sustainable stormwater management, mitigating environmental hazards and enhancing overall well-being. water management environmental hazards and enhancing overall well-being. water management.

The status of stormwater drainage infrastructure in Salem reveals inadequacy across all timeframes from 2021 to 2041, both within the Salem Corporation and the the Local Planning Authority (LPA). The gap is consistently identified as inadequate, with a notable deficiency of 12.5% in relation to the total road network. This underscores the pressing need for strategic planning and infrastructure development to address stormwater drainage shortcomings in both the city corporation and the broader LPA, ensuring effective water management and mitigating potential flooding issues.

8.5 Solid waste management

Solid waste, a significant contributor to environmental pollution, poses escalating challenges as urbanization intensifies. In Salem, the City Municipal Corporation is diligently working towards achieving 100% daily collection of the city's generated garbage. Operating through 60 Sanitary Divisions, the Corporation efficiently transports 550 metric tons of waste daily to the compost yard. Proactively modernizing

Solid Waste Management, the municipality's dedicated team, including inspectors and workers, underscores their commitment to fostering cleaner and healthier urban environments. Efforts to upgrade waste disposal practices signify Salem's proactive approach to sustainable urban waste management.

8.5.1 Generation of Solid Waste in Corporation

The Salem City Municipal Corporation diligently executes a comprehensive waste management strategy encompassing various essential activities. Daily street cleaning and efficient transportation of waste are integral components of this initiative, ensuring the regular removal of refuse from public spaces. Additionally, specialized efforts, such as night sweeping in busy bus stands and marketplaces, contribute to maintaining cleanliness during non-peak hours, enhancing the overall hygiene of these important areas. The Corporation also prioritizes the disposal of waste collected through various methods, employing sustainable practices to minimize the environmental impact.

In response to specific events, the Municipal Corporation implements special conservancy arrangements during festivals and significant occasions that attract a large number of people. This proactive approach ensures that waste generated during these periods is managed effectively, preventing potential environmental and public health hazards. Furthermore, the Corporation undertakes bulk clearance of wastes in specific premises like Kalyanamandapams and hotels, recognizing the unique waste management needs of these establishments. Daily maintenance and cleaning of public toilets and urinals, coupled with the removal of dead animals, demonstrate the Corporation's commitment to maintaining a clean and healthy urban environment. Additionally, the Corporation engages in fee collection to sustain and enhance its waste management services, ensuring continued efficiency and effectiveness in meeting the sanitation needs of the city.

Source: Salem City Municipal corporation

The current solid waste disposal practices in Salem present a concerning scenario as the waste from the city is transported to the disposal site in Chetchavadi, where an open burial system is employed without segregating the waste. This method is highly discouraged due to its potential environmental and health hazards. The disposal site spans 150 acres, emphasizing the scale of the issue. In the past, Salem Corporation faced public protests when disposing of solid waste in Erumapalyam and Suramangalam, where improper landfill maintenance led to environmental issues within a decade. Recognizing the urgency to address these challenges, municipal authorities must transition to scientific methods of solid waste disposal, adopting environmentally sustainable practices and ensuring the health and safety of the community.

8.5.1 Micro composting plant

To rectify the situation, the municipal authorities should consider implementing advanced waste disposal technologies such as incineration. Incinerators, strategically located at Chettichavadi and Erumapalayam (44 Division), offer a more sustainable and controlled method for waste management. This shift to incineration can significantly reduce the environmental impact associated with open burial systems and uncontrolled landfills. It is crucial for the municipal authorities to prioritize the adoption of scientific and environmentally friendly waste disposal practices to mitigate the adverse effects on public health, the environment, and community well-being

8.6 Electricity

Electricity plays a pivotal role in driving everyday economic activities, and the district under consideration boasts a robust electricity infrastructure that spans revenue villages, hamlets, towns, and includes street lights in every block. The electrification facility in the district is commendable, as indicated by the 2011 statistics. The electricity needs of the district are efficiently met through a combination of hydro and thermal power generations. Notably, two hydro power stations, namely Mettur Dam PH and Mettur Tunnel PH, have been in operation since 1937 and 1966, respectively. The Mettur Thermal Power Station, with its four units, further contributes to the reliable power supply. Importantly, the electricity generated within the Salem and Mettur circle is primarily consumed within the district, demonstrating a localized and sustainable approach to meeting energy demands. The district's electricity distribution network is

9.0 SOCIAL INFRASTRUCTURE

The quality of life in any urban center is intricately tied to the availability and accessibility of quality social infrastructure, encompassing a range of essential services that contribute to the well-being and cohesion of the community. Vital components of social infrastructure include healthcare facilities, educational institutions, recreational spaces, cultural venues, and public transportation systems. Access to top-notch healthcare ensures the physical well-being of residents, while educational institutions contribute to intellectual and skill development, fostering a knowledgeable and empowered citizenry. Recreational spaces and cultural venues enhance the overall lifestyle, providing avenues for leisure and community engagement. Furthermore, a well-connected and efficient public transportation system not only reduces congestion but also facilitates mobility, promoting inclusivity and economic opportunities

The URDPFI Guidelines outline a hierarchical structure for planning infrastructure services in urban areas and regions, organizing development based on population thresholds as detailed in the accompanying table. The aim is to ensure basic self-sufficiency at each level of this hierarchy, with the minimum required infrastructure facilities specified. The smallest planning unit is defined as a Housing Area for a population of 5000, mandating provisions such as convenience shopping, open areas, Anganwadi, and a milk booth. Higher-level infrastructure facilities are then stipulated for Neighbourhood, Community, District, Sub City, and regional levels, emphasizing the strategic distribution of amenities across varying scales of population density.

In evaluating deficiencies in social infrastructure within Salem LPA for the year 2021 and projecting needs for 2031 and 2041, adherence to the URDPFI guidelines is pivotal. With Salem LPA's population projected to increase from 18,95,434 in 2011 to 22,77,804 in 2021, the URDPFI guidelines advocate a hierarchical approach, recommending facilities up to the Sub City Center level. The shift from the Zonal to the Sub City Center level underscores the evolving urban landscape in Salem LPA. Thus, the focus of the gap analysis centers on ensuring facilities at the Sub City Center level. Any existing infrastructure beyond this level is deemed an additional advantage, reflecting an elevated standard of urban amenities and contributing to the residents' overall well-being. This strategic evaluation aligns seamlessly with the progressive urban development goals outlined in the URDPFI guidelines, ensuring a forward-looking and comprehensive approach to accommodate the anticipated growth in Salem LPA's population..

Urban centers, exemplified by Salem Corporation, showcase a dense and thriving educational landscape, emphasizing the region's dynamism. Despite this, the educational planning strategy extends beyond urban boundaries, with 85% of villages in Salem LPA equipped with basic educational facilities. However, the absence of such infrastructure in 37 sparsely populated villages underscores a critical accessibility gap for residents in these areas. Anticipating future educational needs, a comprehensive analysis based on URDPFI guidelines, considering population projections for 2031 and 2041, is undertaken. This forward-looking approach aims to synchronize educational infrastructure development with the evolving demographic landscape of Salem LPA, addressing potential gaps proactively catering to the educational needs of the local population and promoting a well-rounded educational experience in the heart of Salem.

9.1.2 GAP Analysis

The gap analysis of educational facilities within the LPA provides a comprehensive assessment of the current scenario, offering insights into the surplus and deficit of educational infrastructure. The table detailing the requirements for the year 2021 as per URDPFI guidelines serves as a benchmark for evaluating the existing educational landscape against established standards. By comparing the actual provision of educational facilities with the specified guidelines, the analysis discerns areas where there is a surplus of institutions as well as those facing a deficit in meeting the educational needs of the existing population. The results of the gap analysis for 2021 illuminate the effectiveness of educational planning and resource allocation within the LPA, pinpointing areas of success and areas that require strategic intervention. The surplus indicates areas where educational provisions exceed the prescribed standards, showcasing areas of strength within the education system. Conversely, deficits

The table 71 shows the existing and projected educational facility units in Salem LPA indicates a surplus of 127 primary education units for 2031 and a minor surplus of 10 units for 2041. However, deficits are foreseen in secondary education with a shortfall of 29 units in 2031, increasing to 49 units by 2041. Integrated schools show a substantial surplus of 97 units in 2031 and 91 units in 2041. Critically, deficits are projected for schools catering to physically challenged students, with a shortfall of 57 units in 2031 and 70 units in 2041, while schools for mentally challenged students face deficits of 3 units in both 2031 and 2041, underscoring the need for targeted interventions and inclusive resource allocation

The table for higher educational facility units in Salem LPA shows a consistent surplus across categories, including technical education, polytechnic colleges, general colleges, engineering colleges, medical colleges, other professional colleges, nursing colleges, universities, and veterinary institutes, both for 2031 and 2041. This surplus, particularly widening from 2031 to 2041, suggests an overprovision of higher education facilities. While indicative of a robust infrastructure, careful planning is crucial to align future expansions with actual demand for optimal resource utilization. The surplus positions Salem LPA as an educational center with the potential to cater not only to its residents but also neighboring regions, contributing significantly to the broader educational landscape.

9.1.4 Area required for Future Educational Institutions

The estimation of the number of educational institutions required for the future population of Salem LPA, as presented in Table 53, incorporates the crucial consideration of the total area specified by URDPFI for different categories of educational institutions. This area calculation accounts for the diverse nature and spatial requirements of each educational category, encompassing primary, secondary, integrated, and higher education institutions. The integration of URDPFI-specified area standards ensures a comprehensive approach to educational planning, aligning the quantitative growth of institutions with the spatial needs dictated by the guidelines.

The subsequent table then outlines the calculated total additional area of institutional land use to be incorporated into the proposed land use plan. This total additional area reflects the anticipated expansion and allocation of land resources to accommodate the projected increase in educational facilities, ensuring that the evolving educational infrastructure is spatially optimized and seamlessly integrated into the broader urban development framework. This strategic consideration of land use not only addresses the quantitative demands of future educational facilities but also emphasizes the importance of thoughtful spatial planning in fostering a conducive and sustainable educational environment within Salem LPA.

9.1.5 Spatial Distribution of Educational Facilities

It is commonly noted that various educational facilities at the housing area level, such as Anganwadi, pre-primary, and primary schools (I - V), often operate within private residential premises. This practice is driven by the advantageous proximity to the areas of demand, allowing for convenient access for local residents. To enhance accessibility and promote a pedestrian-friendly environment, there is a strategic emphasis on locating these essential facilities within a preferable range of 300m to 800m, ensuring a walkable distance that can be covered within 5-15 minutes. This approach not only fosters community engagement but also aligns with urban planning goals aimed at reducing vehicular use, contributing to a more sustainable and interconnected urban fabric. The placement of these local-level educational facilities within walking distance reflects a thoughtful integration of infrastructure, prioritizing the convenience and well-being of residents within the housing areas of Salem LPA

9.1.6 Compliance with RTE Act

The Tamil Nadu Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011, issued under the Right to Education Act, 2009, has laid down specific guidelines for the provision of government neighborhood schools. According to these rules, government primary schools catering to classes I to V should be located within a 1 km radius, while government middle schools serving classes VI to VIII should be situated within a 3 km radius. Spatial analysis, represented in the annexure map for primary and middle schools within Salem LPA, utilizes 1 km and 3 km buffers, respectively, to delineate the sphere of influence for each educational unit.

- 1km in case of Primary schools (classes I to V)
- 3 km in case of Middle schools (classes VI to VIII)

The spatial analysis of the primary school map in Salem LPA, utilizing a 1 km buffer, identifies 281 government primary schools, with some areas outside their influence spheres. These uncovered regions present opportunities for strategically establishing new primary schools, aligning with the Right to Education Act's principles. Conversely, the analysis of the middle school map, with a 3 km buffer, suggests relatively greater coverage of existing government middle schools, guiding future planning efforts towards enhancing primary education quality and accessibility where more acute needs arise. The City Corporate Plan for Salem City Municipal Corporation, under the Tamil Nadu Urban Development Project (TNUDP II), outlines strategic initiatives for Salem city's development and progress.

9.2 Health Facilities

The health facilities in Salem city play a pivotal role in not only serving the local population but also catering to a significant number of residents from the surrounding villages and the broader region. The presence of one government district headquarter hospital and another government hospital underscores the city's importance as a healthcare hub, providing essential medical services and specialized care. Complementing these government facilities, there are also 98 private hospitals equipped with bed facilities, offering a diverse range of healthcare services to meet the varied needs of the community.

In addition to hospital services, the Corporation actively maintains 12 Maternity and Child Welfare Centres, prioritizing the health and well-being of mothers and children.

9.2.1 Existing Scenario of Healthcare Facilities

The National Urban Health Mission (NUHM) of 2013 is a vital initiative aimed at ensuring equitable and high-quality primary healthcare services for the urban population, with a particular emphasis on addressing the healthcare needs of slum dwellers and vulnerable sections of society. In line with its objectives, NUHM has established population norms for urban health infrastructure, guiding the planning and implementation of healthcare facilities in urban areas.

Under NUHM, the population norms serve as a framework for determining the necessary health infrastructure based on the size and characteristics of the urban population. These norms encompass the establishment of urban health and wellness centers, maternal and child health services, and other primary healthcare facilities. The mission recognizes the unique challenges posed by urban settings, emphasizing the need to tailor healthcare services to the specific requirements of urban populations, especially those residing in slums and vulnerable communities

The presence of 16 dispensaries, including allopathic, Ayurveda, and Siddha dispensaries, further enhances the accessibility of healthcare services. This diverse range of medical facilities reflects a holistic approach to healthcare, incorporating both traditional and modern medical practices to cater to the diverse healthcare needs of the population. Additionally, the urban health posts strategically located within the city contribute to the promotion of preventive healthcare, fostering a comprehensive healthcare ecosystem that addresses the varying health requirements of Salem's residents and those from the surrounding villages.

The healthcare infrastructure in Salem city boasts a substantial total bed strength of over 2000, with a significant portion, nearly 700 beds, allocated to the Government Hospital known as Mohan Kumaramangalam Hospital. Serving a dual purpose, this hospital not only provides essential medical services to the local population but also functions as the Medical College Hospital. The robust bed capacity in Mohan Kumaramangalam Hospital underscores its critical role in offering comprehensive healthcare services, encompassing medical education and specialized care, thus contributing significantly to the overall health and well-being of the residents in Salem city and its surrounding areas.

9.2.1 Gap Analysis

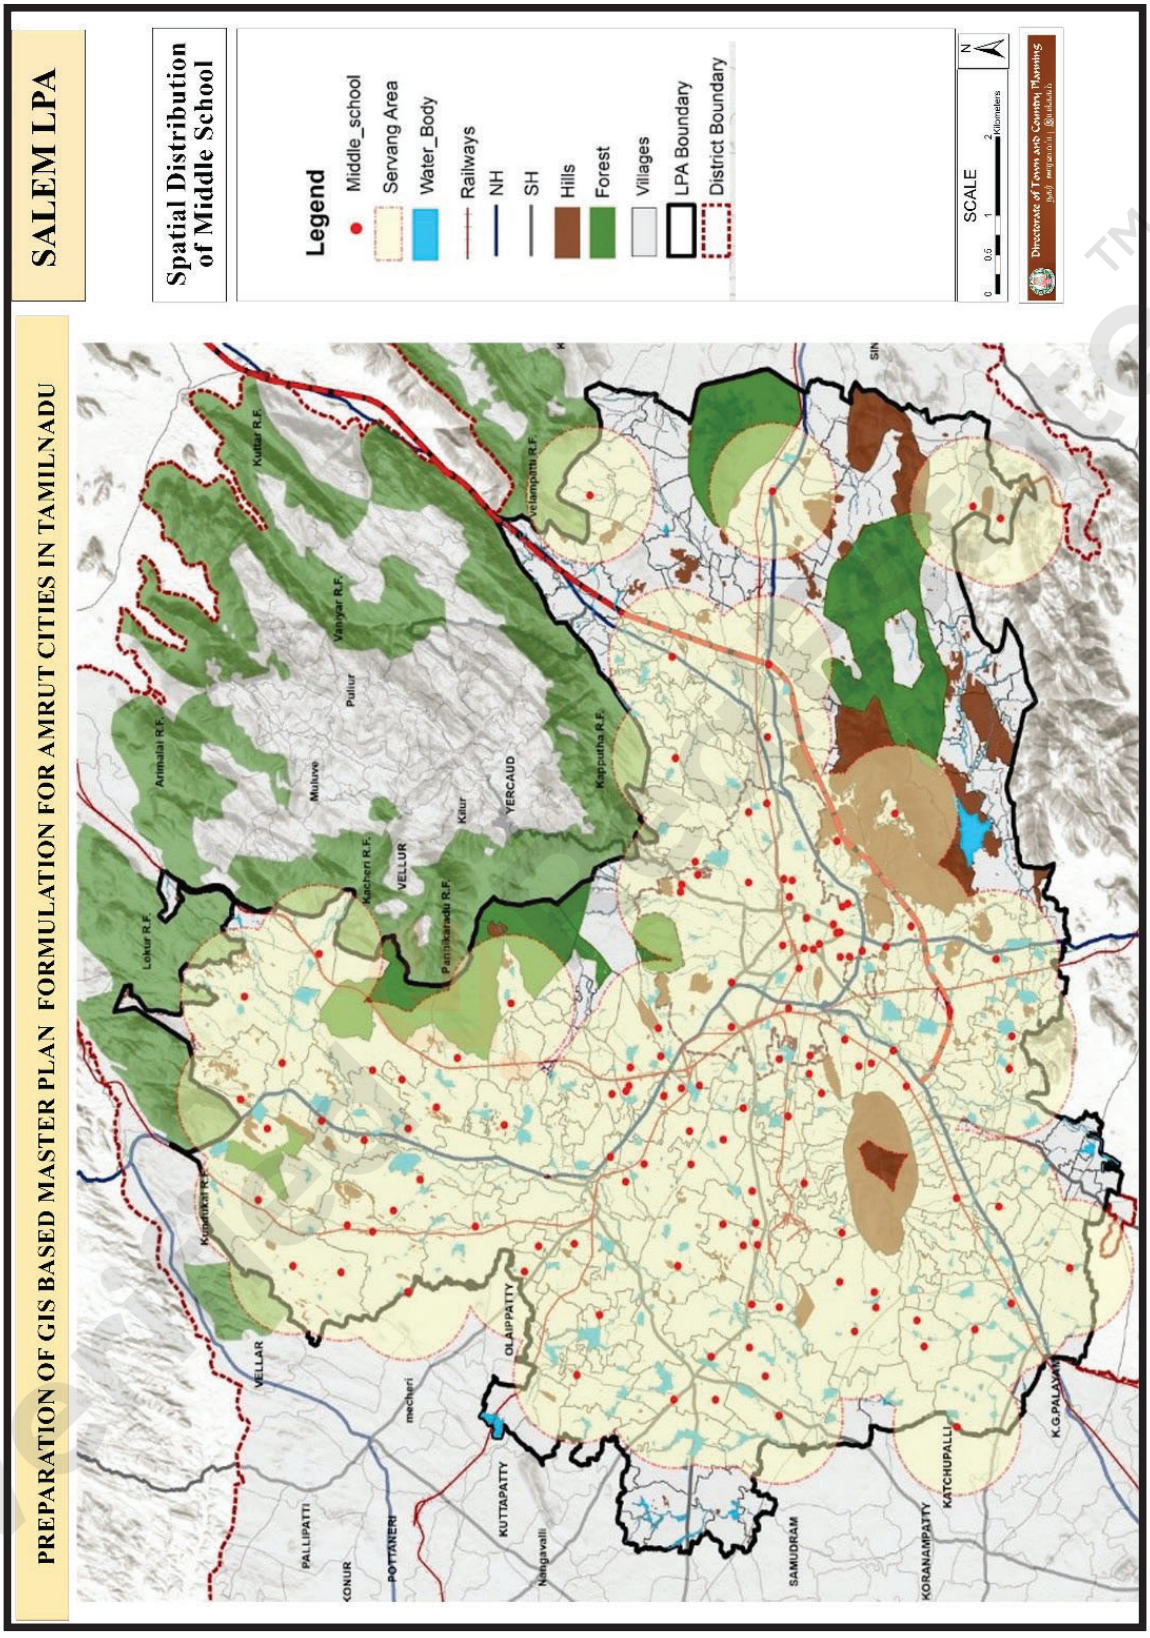

The gap analysis of healthcare facilities within the Local Planning Area (LPA) provides a comprehensive snapshot of the current scenario, outlining the surplus and deficit in health infrastructure based on the requirements specified by URDPFI guidelines and IPH standards for the year 2021. The table offers a detailed comparison between the existing healthcare facilities and the established norms, enabling a nuanced understanding of the adequacy of services relative to the population's health needs. The surplus or deficit figures highlight areas of success and potential challenges within the healthcare system, offering valuable insights for strategic planning and resource allocation. This gap analysis serves as a critical tool for local authorities and policymakers, guiding targeted interventions to address shortfalls and ensure that the healthcare infrastructure aligns with the evolving health demands of the population within the LPA.

9.3 Parks and playgrounds

In addition to the numerous parks, Salem city boasts 13 well-maintained playfields under the purview of the Corporation. These playfields contribute to the city's recreational infrastructure and provide spaces for various outdoor activities. The Corporation's commitment to community engagement is evident in the construction of the community hall at Thongum Poonga, offering a dedicated venue for local gatherings and events. Furthermore, the Bose Maiden, situated near the bus stand, serves as a versatile space utilized for public meetings and exhibitions, enriching the civic and cultural life of the city.

Notably, all the parks mentioned, along with the playfields, have been officially designated as such since 1988 under the Parks and Playfields categorization. The Corporation's proactive approach to urban development is exemplified by the maintenance of Anna Park near the stadium, managed under a Build-Operate-Transfer (BOT) system. This collaborative effort ensures the continuous upkeep of the park, enhancing its amenities for the benefit of the residents. Additionally, the presence of playfields affiliated with schools and colleges within Salem Corporation limits further reinforces the city's commitment to fostering a healthy and active lifestyle among its residents. As part of the city's modernization efforts, 17 parks have been executed under the Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT), contributing to the overall enhancement of green spaces and recreational facilities in Salem.

ii. Establishing advanced entertainment parks, comparable to those in metropolitan areas, to enhance recreational options.

iii. Encouraging active participation of the private sector, NGOs, and CBOs in the maintenance and development of parks and playgrounds.

iv. Exploring strategies to broaden the collection of user charges in parks and playgrounds for sustainable upkeep.

v. Considering the facilitation of infrastructure and support for corporate entities interested in establishing theme parks within the city.

The provided data presents a snapshot of the anticipated demand for parks in the specified sector for the years 2021 and 2041. In 2021, the demand is identified as 6 units, and there is an expected increase to 10 units by 2041. However, the total demand is indicated as -3, suggesting a potential mismatch or discrepancy in the figures. This negative total demand may signify an overestimation or an error in the calculation, and further clarification or review of the data is necessary to reconcile this inconsistency. As the accuracy of such data is critical for informed decision-making, addressing discrepancies ensures that urban planning and development initiatives align with the actual requirements and expectations within the designated sector.

The Salem has 3 parks namely Anna Park, Ramakrishna Park and Fairlands Children Park. 61 numbers of approved layouts are there in Salem city which could be developed as parks and playgrounds.

The Project population of Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) qualifies as a community-level planning unit based on URDPFI guidelines. According to these guidelines, a District Sport Centre of 8 hectares is required for a community-level planning unit. The LPA already has an existing sports center that can effectively serve both the present and future population.The city of Salem is actively focusing on enhancing its green spaces through a comprehensive approach, combining development and renovation initiatives. In Suramangalam and Veeranam, there are ongoing efforts to develop new parks, adding to the recreational areas available for residents. Simultaneously, the city is directing attention towards the renovation of existing parks, with a specific focus on Ramakrishna Park and Ayyaswamy Park in Keel Tank. These renovation projects aim to revitalize infrastructure, introduce modern amenities, and improve overall landscaping to create inviting and well-maintained public spaces. These endeavors align with the city's commitment to providing residents with aesthetically pleasing, functional, and sustainable parks that contribute to the overall well-being and recreational needs of the community.

9.7 Police Station

The shift from 26 police stations in 2021 to a projected 13 by 2041 suggests a dynamic reconfiguration in the approach to law enforcement within the region. This substantial reduction prompts a thorough examination of factors influencing the diminishing demand for police stations, which could range from enhanced technological integration for crime prevention to a strategic consolidation of resources. As the landscape of public safety evolves, it becomes imperative for policymakers and law enforcement agencies to adapt, ensuring that the downsizing aligns with the changing nature of security challenges. A comprehensive strategy should be devised to maintain an optimal balance between resource allocation and the need for effective law enforcement, fostering a safe and secure environment for the community.

In planning for the future, it is crucial to consider not only the quantitative aspect of police stations but also the qualitative aspects, such as the adoption of advanced technologies, community engagement programs, and data-driven approaches to address emerging threats. This adaptive strategy will be essential to meet the evolving demands of public safety and maintain a resilient and responsive law enforcement infrastructure.

9.8 Fire Station

The stark increase in the number of fire stations from 7 in 2021 to a projected 13 by 2041 reveals a notable surge in the demand for firefighting services within the region. This significant positive deviation of 6 indicates a heightened emphasis on fire safety and emergency response capabilities. The proactive expansion of fire stations reflects a commitment to addressing the growing challenges and risks associated with fire incidents. To effectively manage this increased demand, it becomes imperative for authorities to not only focus on numerical augmentation but also invest in modern firefighting technologies, training programs, and community awareness initiatives to bolster the overall resilience of the firefighting infrastructure.

10.0 HOUSING

10.1 Introduction

In Salem, Tamil Nadu, housing is a critical concern evident from the 2011 census data, highlighting 492,642 households in the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA). This reflects the significant challenge of securing adequate housing at local, regional, and national levels. Beyond providing shelter, the housing sector contributes to local employment, creating opportunities during construction and long-term maintenance. The United Nations Centre for Human Settlements emphasizes 'Settlement conditions,' considering the entire physical environment shaping daily life, including dwellings, services, facilities, and transportation. In Salem, housing solutions extend beyond structures, playing a crucial role in community development, accessibility, and sustainability. This multifaceted approach makes housing a pivotal focus for fostering inclusive urban growth.

10.2 Existing Housing Scenario

In Salem LPA, household distribution reflects a dynamic landscape with 17.68% in rural and 51.51% in urban areas, indicating a growing urbanization trend. Within the urban context, 43.77% are concentrated in the municipal corporation limits, emphasizing the demand for urban infrastructure and services. Salem LPA contributes significantly at various levels: 5.32% within the district, 0.75% at the state level in Tamil Nadu, and 0.10% nationally. This distribution highlights Salem LPA as a demographic nucleus, necessitating nuanced strategies for urban planning, resource allocation, and addressing diverse needs in both urban and rural areas.

The existing housing condition for Salem LPA is assessed based on 2011 census data, revealing a total of 1,895,434 households, representing 100%.

10.2.1 Housing Landscape

The analysis of Salem LPA's 2011 census data reveals significant insights into its housing landscape. Out of 492,642 households, 7.64% consist of kutcha houses, reflecting less durable construction. Additionally, 5.77% of houses are reported as dilapidated, raising concerns about structural integrity. The presence of 0.03% houseless individuals highlights the pressing issue of homelessness. This analysis emphasizes diverse challenges in the housing sector, necessitating targeted interventions for improved living standards and structural integrity.

The graph illustrates household distribution in Salem LPA, with 63% being urban households. Notably, 44% of these are concentrated within the Salem municipal corporation, indicating strong urbanization trends. Rural households constitute 37%, emphasizing a clear urban-rural distribution. The concentration within the municipal corporation points to robust urbanization, reflecting key economic and infrastructural aspects.

10.2.1 Household Size

The census data highlights a diverse distribution in household sizes within the area. Roughly 32% of households consist of four members, followed by 22%, 16%, and 15% representing three, five, and two-member households, respectively. Notably, a significant 81% of households exceed two members, indicating a prevalence of medium-sized households typically comprising 3 to 4 members.

This trend aligns with the societal shift towards nuclear family structures. However, these demographic shifts, combined with rapid urbanization, present a potential challenge for future housing needs. The increasing prevalence of nuclear households may contribute to heightened demand for housing, placing greater pressure on existing housing infrastructure.

10.2.1 Housing Size

The 2011 census data on housing sizes in Salem municipal corporation reveals insights into the diverse living arrangements of residents. Notably, 7% of households lack a dedicated room, indicating potential unconventional or shared living. This highlights the adaptability of urban life.A significant finding is that 36% of households reside in single-room dwellings, suggesting a prevalent trend of compact living spaces. Factors contributing to this trend may include urbanization impacts, housing constraints, or cultural preferences influencing living arrangements.

Further analysis shows that 32% and 16% of households live in residences with two and three rooms, respectively, indicating diversity in housing structures. This variation could be linked to socio-economic factors, family sizes, or individual preferences.The diverse range of housing sizes emphasizes the need for tailored approaches to address varied housing needs and preferences. It underscores the importance of housing policies that consider different household sizes, preferences, and socio-economic backgrounds. This understanding is crucial for crafting strategies that promote sustainable, accessible, and equitable housing solutions in the municipal corporation.

10.2.2 Housing Typology

The current housing typology in the area predominantly meets positive standards, with a significant 78% categorized as 'good,' reflecting commendable living conditions. Another substantial 21% falls under 'liveable' housing, contributing to an overall favorable housing scenario. However, a notable 1% is classified as 'dilapidated,' emphasizing the need for urgent attention to address these structures in disrepair and ensure residents' safety.

This nuanced distribution highlights both the predominantly good housing conditions and the imperative of addressing existing dilapidated structures. It is crucial for maintaining and improving overall housing quality, catering to the majority's positive living conditions while addressing the specific needs of the minority facing challenges with their housing structures. Around 84% of Salem's housing is categorized as 'permanent,' emphasizing the prevalence of stable and enduring residential structures. Semi-permanent housing accounts for 11%, and 'total temporary' structures make up a minimal 2%, showcasing the durability of the majority of constructions. Within Salem Municipal Corporation, 78% of households live in 'good' houses, reflecting commendable living conditions. Another 21% inhabit 'liveable' houses, while approximately 1% reside in dilapidated units, indicating a need for improved housing quality. In terms of structural classifications, 84% represent permanent structures, 11% as semi-permanent, and a mere 2% as total temporary housing.

This breakdown provides insights into housing characteristics and emphasizes the broader context of housing quality in the region, forming a foundation for targeted interventions and policy decisions to enhance stability and overall quality.

India faces significant challenges in addressing poverty and malnutrition, with one in three malnourished children worldwide residing in the country. Initiatives like the Rajiv Awas Yojana (RAY) and Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY) aim to create a "Slum-free India" by integrating slums into the formal system, rectifying systemic deficiencies, and providing dignified shelter for the urban poor. Salem aligns with these initiatives, with PMAY showing progress in housing construction. Notably, Salem city and Kannankurichi have achieved a commendable 73% completion of the allocated 24,775 houses, emphasizing the need for uniform advancements across urban areas within the Local Planning Area (LPA).

10.2.1 Existing Slum Scenario

The city of Salem, organized into 60 Municipal Wards and segmented into four zones, grapples with a widespread presence of slums, encompassing nearly all wards and tallying up to approximately 344 such settlements. This report focuses on survey results obtained from around 246 of these slums, representing nearly 18% of the city's entire slum populace. Regrettably, details regarding the remaining 98 slums remain unavailable due to non-cooperation from residents during the survey and instances of locked houses. Referencing Exhibit 1, which provides an in-depth distribution of the 247 surveyed slums across all 60 wards, it's notable that all these identified slums fall under the category of non-notified settlements, a critical aspect to consider while examining the slum landscape in Salem.

Source: City wise Physical & Financial Progress of PMAY-U

An examination of slum distribution across zones uncovers distinctive patterns. Zone III (Ammapet) takes the lead, housing the largest share at 35% of the total slum population. Following closely, Zone 4 (Kondalampatty), Zone 1 (Suramangalam), and Zone II (Hasthampatty) represent 26%, 24%, and 15% of the slum populace, respectively. This breakdown based on zones accentuates the differing prevalence and concentration of slum settlements within distinct geographical areas across Salem city.

10.2.2 Urban poor

To drive inclusive urban development in Salem, Tamil Nadu, a departure from historical norms is vital, focusing on addressing the root causes of inequity for the urban poor. Comprehensive data on Salem and its slums is essential for crafting effective policies to uplift and rehabilitate slum dwellers. Diversifying income sources is imperative for sustainable improvement, moving beyond reliance on daily wages. Creating resilient livelihoods requires a broader income base, especially for those unable to engage in daily wage labor consistently.

Community attitudes play a pivotal role in fostering positive change for slum dwellers, eliminating societal stigmas, and creating an environment conducive to improved economic status. Salem's development is bolstered by the upcoming defense corridor, contributing to economic growth and offering significant employment opportunities for the youth. Inspired by the success of Virudhunagar, Salem can implement targeted interventions, strengthen the agricultural economy, leverage defense corridor opportunities, and invest in skill development and sustainable urban infrastructure. This comprehensive approach ensures inclusive progress benefiting all segments of the population in Salem.

In the year 2019, as per the city's planning, the Continuous Building Area (CBA) is defined separately from other building categories. For Non-High Rise Buildings, a height of 18.30 meters is permitted, while for High Rise Buildings, the permissible height ranges from 1.0 to 6.0 meters. The development aims to ensure urban aesthetics, with specific regulations for height variations. Additionally, historical structures, cultural heritage, and environmental conservation are considered in planning and development processes.

10.4.1 Old settlement Area

Salem's transformation into an industrial hub commenced in 1972 with the establishment of the Salem Steel Plant. This pivotal development catalyzed the city's growth, laying the foundation for a thriving industrial landscape. 11.0 TOURISM AND HERITAGE

11.1 Introduction

Salem, also known as the Mango City in Tamil Nadu, bears the imprint of a vibrant history and cultural heritage. Its name, derived from 'sela' or 'shalya,' reflects the topography of the hills that surround the region, as evidenced by ancient inscriptions. Local folklore weaves tales of Salem being the birthplace of the revered Tamil poetess Avvaiyar, adding a poetic allure to its historical narrative.Throughout epochs, Salem, alongside Coimbatore, found itself under the sway of the Madurai Nayaks until the early 18th century when it became a battleground in the Mysore-Madurai war, eventually falling under the rule of Hyder Ali. In a significant administrative shift in 1965, Salem District underwent bifurcation into Salem and Dharmapuri Districts, reshaping the landscape of the region.Against this backdrop, Salem emerges not only as a city with a unique cultural identity but also as a cradle of political influence. Pioneering figures such as Salem Ramasamy Mudaliar, C. Vijaya Raghavachariar, Pagadala Narasimhalu, C. Rajagopalachari (Rajaji), and Dr. Subbarayan embarked on their political careers in Salem, leaving an enduring legacy on the city's political canvas. Salem, with its blend of historical significance and political prominence, stands as a testament to the dynamic interplay between culture, history, and leadership in Tamil Nadu.

Pilgrims gather to partake in the festivities, creating an atmosphere of devotion and communal celebration that enhances Yercaud's appeal as a spiritual destination.Another celebration in the region is the Adiperukku Festival, an annual event in Mettur every August. This festival holds cultural and religious importance, signifying a time of reverence and festivity. Residents and visitors come together to participate in rituals, prayers, and communal activities, fostering a sense of unity and shared joy. The Adiperukku Festival adds vibrancy to the cultural calendar and emphasizes the communal spirit ingrained in the fabric of life in Yercaud and its surrounding regions.

11.3.2 Kottai Marriamman Temple

During the months of July and August in Tamil Nadu, the Mariyamman Temple festival takes center stage, showcasing religious fervor and cultural vibrancy. Widely celebrated across the state, this annual event reflects the rich traditions defining Tamil Nadu's cultural landscape. The weeklong festivities, featuring processions, rituals, and communal gatherings, honor Mariyamman, the goddess associated with rain and fertility.Among the renowned Mariyamman Temple festivals, the celebration at the Kottai Mariyamman Temple is notably significant. Devotees from various places converge at this sacred site to participate in rituals and seek the blessings of the goddess. The culmination of the weeklong celebration includes a fire walk, a traditional practice holding deep spiritual significance. This symbolic act not only represents devotion but also serves as a collective expression of purification and faith.

11.3.3 Mettur dam

Mettur, located 60 km from Salem, serves as an industrial town and a picnic spot along the Kaveri River. The town exports river fish to distant places like Calcutta and houses an irrigation and hydroelectric power system centered around the Mettur Dam and Stanley Reservoir. The dam, an engineering marvel constructed in the late 1920s, spans 5,300 feet across the Kaveri, regulating its flow. With a reservoir primarily designed for irrigation and a capacity of 5,46,000 cubic feet, the dam also contributes to electricity generation. The scenic park opposite the dam adds to its allure, attracting tourists with lush lawns, fountains, and picturesque views, making it a serene retreat and a key tourist destination in the region.

11.4 Salem Arts and Culture

Art and culture serve as a reflection of civilization, portraying human values and preserving ancient traditions. In the Salem district of Tamil Nadu, a diverse range of art forms, including paintings, architecture, sculpture, music, dance, and theater, highlights the rich cultural heritage. Rural arts, such as Theru Koothu (Street Play), Isai Nadakam (Musical drama), Karagattam (Pot dance), and Bommalattam (Puppetry), thrive in the Salem area, showcasing the region's cultural pride.

Verified RedEstate™

The broader classifications of Art and Entertainment, namely Literature (Iyal), Music (Isai), and Dance or Drama (Nadagam), find representation in the district. Theru Koothu, once a village performance, now adapted for modern stages, remains deeply rooted in tradition. Notable locations like Nallur, Mecheri, Jalakandapuram, Tharmangalam, and Sankari circles are vital hubs for Therukuthu artists, preserving these artistic legacies through generations. Musical drama, performed with various themes, has troupes in Kugai, Kitchipalyam, Sevapettai, and Ammapetai in Salem District presenting plays like Sathyavaan Savithri, Pavazhakkodi Charithram, Valli Thirumanam, Madurai Veeran, Chitraangi Vilaasam, and Nalla Thangal. The Salem Drama Actors' Association, with the largest membership among Drama Actors Associations in Tamil Nadu, operates in its building in Salem Kallanguthu.

The district has also contributed to the development of cinema. Modern Theaters Ltd, an Indian film studio in Salem, started by T. R. Sundaram in 1935, produced over 150 films until 1982 in various languages, including Tamil, Telugu, Kannada, Malayalam, Hindi, Sinhalese, and English. Salem stands as a unique place in Tamil Nadu, preserving and fostering the three dimensions of drama—street theater, musical drama, and film.

11.4.1 Karagattam

It is a dance dedicated to Goddess Mariamman, believed to bestow the earth with rains and make it a cool place to live in. This dance is generally classified into two categories. Aatta Karakam [just for fun and play], one of the two types, is performed with a decorated pot on the head, doing the balancing act, which brings joy and happiness to everyone. The other category is called Sakthi Karakam, which is performed only in temples during the festival to fulfill the religious aspect of the art. It is performed with Naiyandi Melam in the background. This dance can be performed by both men and women, singles, pairs, or groups. Acrobatic movements such as dancing on a rolling block of wood, going up and down a ladder, and threading a needle are some movements performed by the dancers. Salem Thadagapatti has produced excellent exponent groups of this art.

11.4.2 Bommalattam:

It is popularly called the Puppet Show in English. Cultural messages and scenes from the great epics of Ramayana and Mahabharata are performed through the puppet show. It is enacted and spread through performers from behind the screen, with the help of dolls in the foreground. Iron rods are suspended from above, and the dolls (only visible through a window opening from a height of 10 ft.) are connected by black strings manipulated by the performers from behind (not visible to the audience) to achieve different movements of the dolls to fulfill a sequence, and the play is enacted from the beginning to the end.

11.4.3 Adimelam:

Refers to a band comprising ancient musical instruments like kattai Kuzhal (small wind instrument), Manmelam (drum covered with leather in a cylinder made of clay), Small drum called Thamuku, Big Drum called Thudumbu, Urumi (a double-headed hourglass-shaped drum), Thalam (the beat counter), and Oothu (the pitch instrument for Kattai Kuzhal). This band is available in Pallipatti in Metur Taluk and other places in the district.

11.5 Department of Art and Culture

In December 1991, the Government of Tamil Nadu established a dedicated department, the "Department of Art and Culture," to focus on the development of music, drama, dance, painting, sculpture, and folk arts. The primary objective is to showcase and preserve the traditional cultural heritage of Tamil Nadu, especially for the younger generation.

The Department of Art and Culture diligently works to extend Tamil music, art, and culture to every corner of the state, emphasizing the preservation and promotion of traditional arts. Its efforts include providing performance opportunities for artists involved in these arts, offering arts training to the younger generation, and safeguarding vanishing art forms. This is achieved through performing arts and fine arts institutions that specialize in music, dance, drama, folk arts, painting, and sculpture.

Verified RealEstate TM

Furthermore, the department organizes cultural functions to exhibit Tamil culture in other states and countries, recognizing and rewarding contributions through district-level and state-level awards. Financial assistance is also extended to elderly, financially disadvantaged artists, contributing to their economic well-being and the revival of endangered art forms.

11.5.1 Regional Culture centre salem

The Salem Regional Cultural Centre, established in 1997 under the Department's control, plays a vital role in coordinating cultural activities in the region. As part of a network of seven Regional Cultural Centres, it focuses on organizing diverse cultural events, competitions, and training programs within the district. The center actively contributes to the preservation and promotion of cultural heritage by recognizing and supporting local artistic talent through the issuance of Identification Cards by the District Art Society.

Situated within the Salem Cultural Complex, a purpose-built facility opposite Thalavaipatti Aavin Milk dairy, the Salem Regional Cultural Centre serves as a centralized hub for cultural initiatives. This dynamic center houses the District Music School, Jawahar Bal Bhavan, and the Folk Artiste Welfare Board office. Together, these components create a space that nurtures, celebrates, and sustains the rich cultural legacy of the region. The center also administers schemes for District Art Societies, District Music Schools, Jawahar Bal Bhavans, and the Folk Artistes Welfare Board. District Level Awards are conferred on distinguished artists, reinforcing the significance of their contributions to the cultural landscape.

11.5.1.1 Classical art organisations

"Tholkappiyam" mentions various types of music pertaining to the five landscapes (Thinai) of Sangam Literature. Poems from the Sangam era contain numerous references to various musical instruments. Thiruvalluvar in his Thirukkural (573) expresses, "Where not accordant with the song, what use of sounding chords." Saint Manickavasagar, in Thiruvasagam, states that lyrics embedded with music will always receive rewards.

Verified RedEstate ™

Famous musicians like Salem Desikan and Salem Jayalakshmi have lived and contributed to the development of Classical music in Salem. Srimat Thiyagaraja Venkataramana Bhagavatha Swami Magotsava Sabha, Salem Sangeetha Vidvat Sabha, Salem Amateur Arts conduct music and dance performances. Salem Kamban Kazhagam and Ammapettai Markazhi Peruvizha Committee also organize literature-related festivals.

11.5.1.2 District Government Music School-Salem

Tamil Isai stands foremost in projecting ancient Tamil culture. The ancient Tamil art forms of music and dance are intertwined, providing mental peace to our minds. Music educational institutions under the Art and Culture Department contribute to educating and promoting the importance of music to the younger generation.

To promote and propagate Tamil Isai throughout Tamil Nadu, and to encourage the younger generation interested in music while popularizing music education among them, 17 District Government Music Schools were established, including one in Salem. These schools conduct three-year Certificate Courses in Vocal Music, Bharathanatyam, Nathaswaram, Thavil, Thevaram, Violin, and Mridangam at the Salem District Government Music School.

11.5.1.3 Jawahar Siruvar Manram-Salem

In order to provide basic art education along with general education to children in the age group of 5 to 16 years, impart arts training to children, channelize the students in the right path, bring out their latent artistic talents, and give opportunities for the conduct of art programs, identifying their special talents, 40 Jawahar Siruvar Manrams are functioning throughout the state, including the Salem district Jawahar Siruvar Manram. Training is given in four disciplines: Vocal Music, Bharathanatyam, Gymnastics, Drawing, and Painting, at the Salem District Siruvar Manram.

11.5.1.4 District Art Societies

The District Art Societies, headed by the District Collector in each district, are functioning with the aim of identifying and assisting artists in their respective districts.

Verified RealEstate™

Their objectives include promoting and preserving the rich traditional Tamil arts, recognizing artistic talent, and conferring awards at the district level. Since the year 2002-2003, the government has been implementing a scheme to provide awards to five eminent artists in each district, considering their age and eminence in the arts. Starting from the year 2017-2018, the award amounts given to the artists for district awards are as follows:

The scheme of issuing Identification Cards to artists in districts through the District Art Society has been implemented by this department since the year 2002-2003. These Identification Cards are beneficial for artists, enabling them to receive financial assistance and obtain priority in cultural programs.

11.5.1.5 Tamil Nadu Folk Artistes Welfare Board

The Tamil Nadu Folk Artistes Welfare Board was established to offer social security and welfare schemes to folk artists, preserve traditional folk art forms recognized by the government, and provide training in folk arts to the younger generation. In Salem District, 1838 folk artists have registered as members of the board. An amount of Rs. 17.35 lakh has been sanctioned to 1,222 folk artists for various purposes, including assistance for their children's education and marriage expenses, purchase of spectacles, assistance on the natural death of a registered folk artist, free instruments and costumes, and ornaments issuing scheme. The board has also extended Covid-19 relief funds up to October 31, 2020.

12.0 ENVIRONMENT

12.1 Introduction

Environmental considerations play a pivotal role in determining the sustainability of a region. The delicate balance between various environmental facets and development is a key factor influencing the progress and liveability of an area. Among the multitude of factors impacting the liveability of a region, land and water emerge as the most critical. As the demand for water rises, there is a concurrent surge in the demand for urban land. Urban areas attract individuals seeking employment, entertainment, shopping, and an overall elevated standard of living.

However, this influx of people into urban centres is often met with inadequate environmental infrastructure to support the ensuing population growth and increased population densities. The resulting congestion gives rise to environmental hazards and degradation, underscoring the urgent need for strategies to reverse this environmental deterioration. Consequently, the rate of urban population growth in developing countries serves as a direct indicator of the spatial concentration of people, industries, commerce, vehicles, energy consumption, water use, waste generation, and other environmental stresses.

This chapter delves into a comprehensive analysis of various environmental aspects to assess the current environmental conditions of the planning area. The findings of this analysis are presented alongside a set of proposed strategies aimed at safeguarding and enhancing the environmental quality of the planning area. The ultimate goal is to strike a harmonious balance between urban development and environmental preservation, ensuring the long-term well-being and resilience of the region.

12.1.1 Physiography

Salem, a geological marvel nestled in the embrace of the Eastern Ghats, unfolds its grandeur through a captivating physiography. The district boasts rolling hills, with the Shevroy hills commanding attention, reaching a pinnacle at 1900 meters. The topography reveals a dynamic range, spanning elevations from 150 to 400 meters above Mean Sea Level, offering a visually stunning landscape of elevated peaks and expansive plains. The Shevroy hills, with their lofty summits and lush greenery, not only enhance the district's aesthetic appeal but also significantly influence weather patterns and ecological diversity. The River Cauvery, along with its tributaries Sarabanga and Thirumanimuttar, forms a crucial lifeline to Salem's western region, while Vasishta Nadhi and Vellar enrich the eastern landscapes. This intricate interplay of hills, plains, and rivers defines Salem's identity as a region blessed with diverse and captivating terrain, creating a picturesque canvas that reflects the geological wonders of the Eastern Ghats.

12.1.2 Hydrogeology

Salem district's subterranean landscape is a testament to its geological richness. Resting on Archaean Crystalline formations, the district features recent alluvial deposits tracing the courses of key rivers like Cauvery, Thirumanimutharu, and Sarapangandhi. While the Cauvery flows perennially, other rivers come to life only during the rainy seasons. The hydrogeological foundation is sculpted by weathered, fissured, and fractured crystalline rocks, coupled with recent alluvial deposits that form essential aquifer systems.

The porous formations are predominantly represented by river alluvium, strategically confined to major river and stream courses. Groundwater exists under phreatic conditions, with aquifers exhibiting a maximum saturated thickness of up to 10 meters, contingent on topographic conditions. The Archaean-age crystalline rocks, encompassing gneisses, granites, Charnockite, and associated rocks, present a weathered mantle where groundwater occurs phreatically, and in fractured zones, it exists under semiconfined conditions. The thickness of the weathered mantle, ranging from less than a meter to a substantial 20.10 meters, predominantly lies within 15 meters depth across the major part of the district.

Testing the hydrogeological potential, large-diameter wells in crystalline rocks exhibit specific capacities ranging from 31 to 200 liters per minute per meter of drawdown. The yield characteristics of wells vary significantly, influenced by topographic conditions, lithology, and the degree of weathering. Bore wells drilled to depths of 70 to 100 meters by various state agencies, primarily for domestic purposes, boast yields ranging from 100 to 600 liters per minute. In the comprehensive groundwater exploration program led by the Central Ground Water Board, successful bore wells drilled to depths of 200 meters below ground level exhibit yields ranging from 0.50 to 14.00 liters per second. This intricate interplay of geological features underscores the district's hydrogeological complexity and potential.

12.1.3 Geomorphology

The expansive canvas of Salem district unfolds as a Pedi plain, bordered by the majestic Shevaroy Hills to the northeast and Jarugumalai to the south. These elevated remnants, standing tall at over 1031 meters above mean sea level, bear witness to the denuded Eastern Ghats. The district gently slopes from these commanding heights towards the northeast, transforming into a vast expanse of plains that stretches until the eastern border.

Interwoven into the landscape are small residual hills, each with its unique character, such as Nagaramalai, Kanjamalai, and Kodhumalai. The general elevation of the area gracefully oscillates between 120 meters and 200 meters above mean sea level, contributing to the district's diverse and captivating topography.

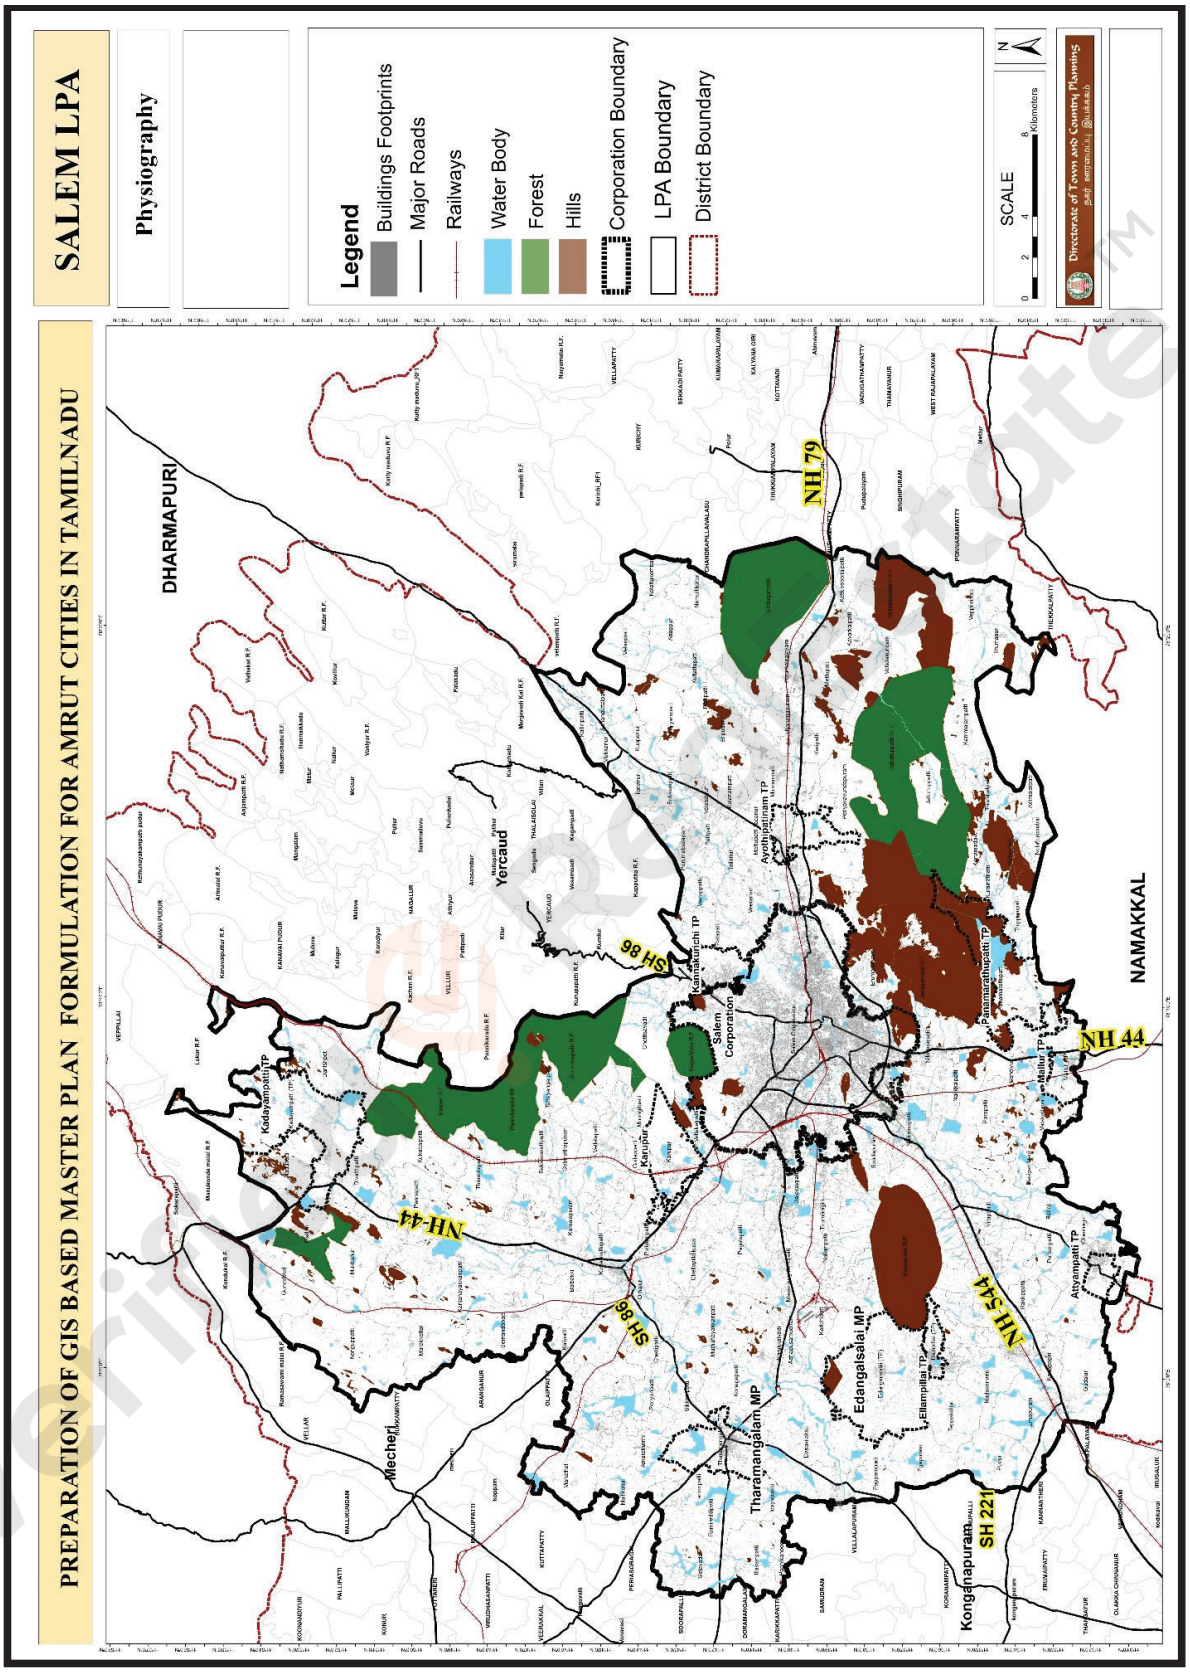

Through meticulous interpretation of satellite imagery, distinct geomorphic units have been identified, enriching our understanding of the region's dynamic landforms:

- Structural hill
- Pediments
- Shallow Pediments
- Buried Pediments
- Alluvial plain

12.1.4 Soil

The diverse soils of Salem district unfold into four primary types: Red Soil, Thin Red Soil, Red Loam, and Sand red ferruginous and red sand. Red soil, the predominant variant, blankets a significant portion of the district, with Thin Red soil and Red Loam following suit. Notably, the expanses of Sankari, Edappadi, Tharamangalam, Omalur, and Mettur blocks showcase the rich tapestry of red soils.

In the intricate mosaic of Salem's soil composition, black loam emerges as the epitome of fertility, fostering ideal conditions for agricultural productivity. Particularly in and around Attur, the red soil rivals the productivity levels of loam, showcasing its agricultural resilience.

The genesis of black soil lies in alluvial deposits enriched by a red subsoil, adding depth and complexity to Salem's soil narrative. This understanding of the district's soil diversity serves as a pivotal guide for sustainable land use planning within the overarching Master Plan. It ensures that the unique characteristics of each soil type are harnessed effectively, contributing to the overall environmental health and productivity of the Salem district.

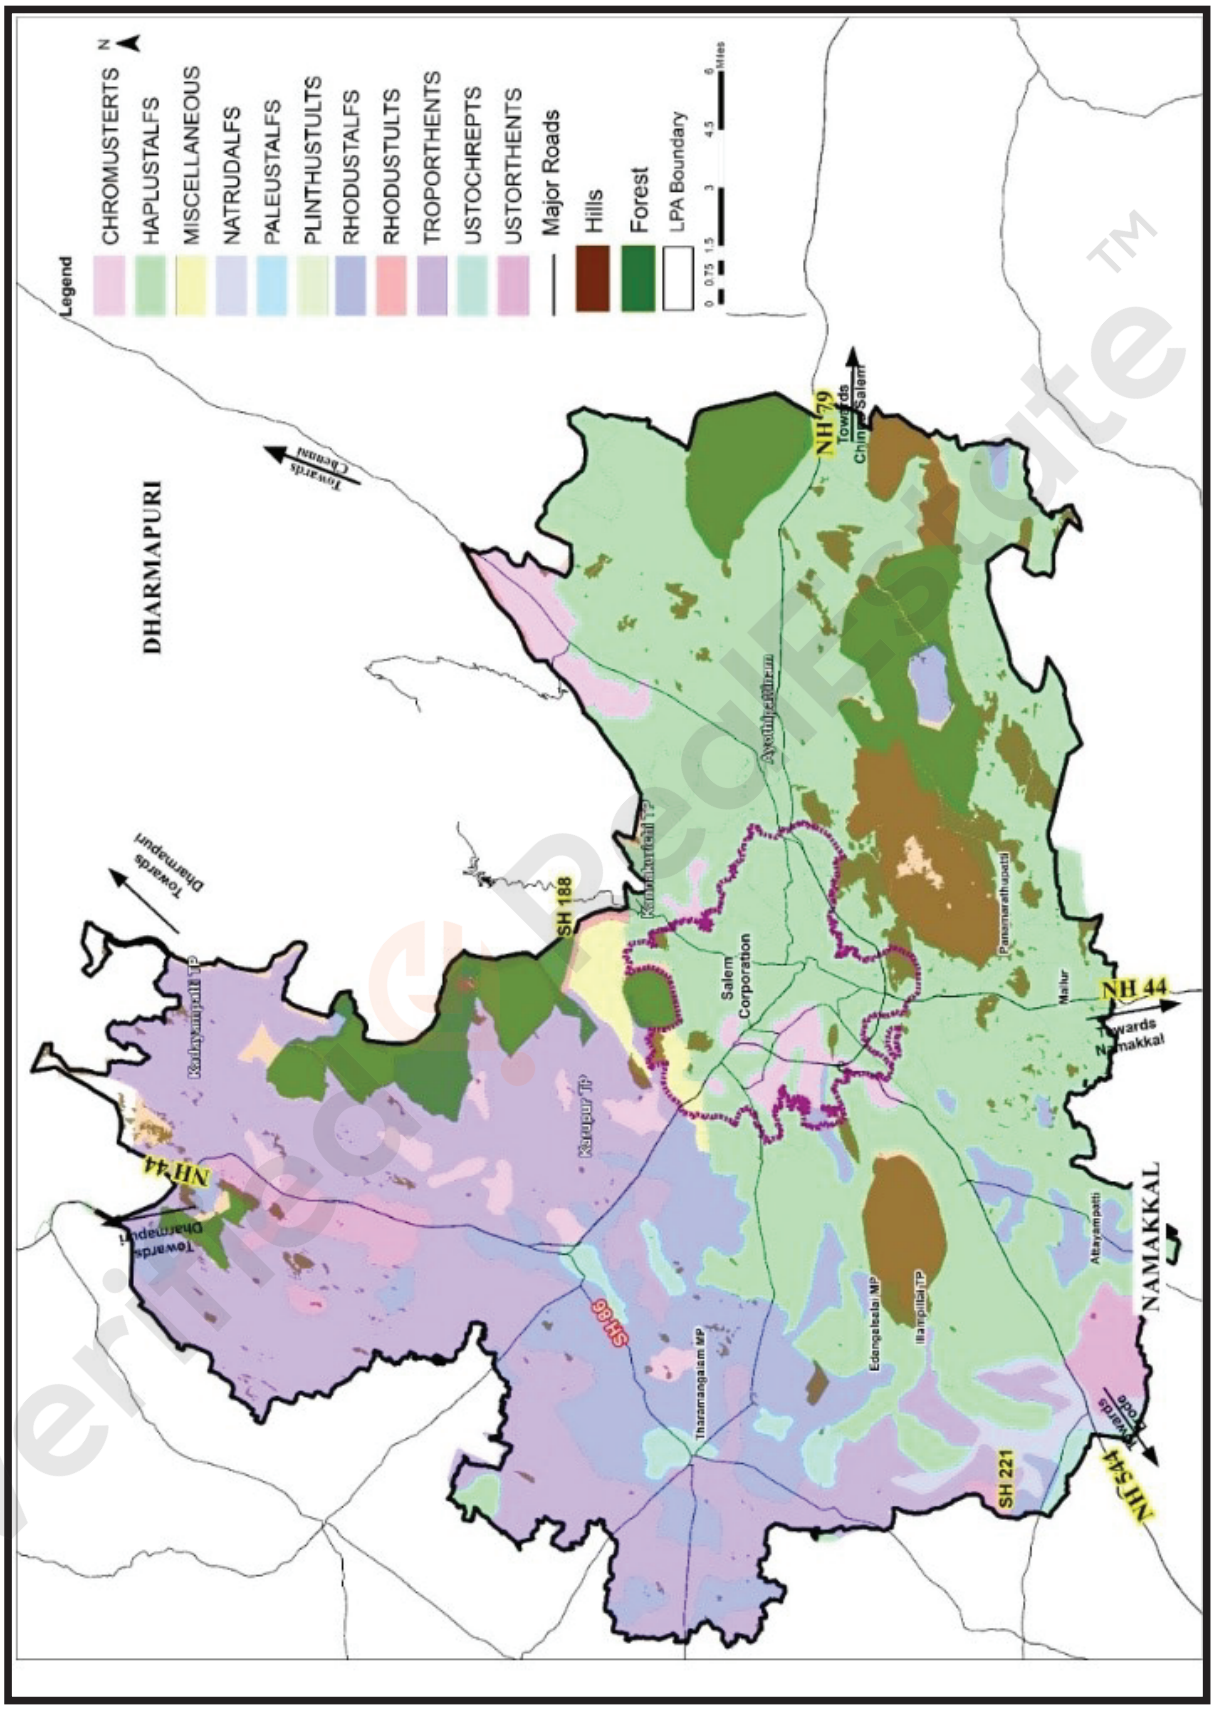

12.1.5 Climate and Rainfall

Salem has a tropical Savanna Climate, offering a pleasant ambiance throughout the year, except the summer months. The yearly cycle in Salem and its surroundings unfolds across distinct seasons:

Summer (March, April, and May): Characterized by warmth, the onset of the South-West Monsoon provides a break from the heat. South-West Monsoon Period (June, July, and August): The monsoon brings relief from summer's intensity, marking a shift in weather patterns. North-East Monsoon Period (September, October, and November): This period heralds the arrival of the North-East Monsoon, influencing precipitation and weather conditions. Winter Season (December, January, and February): The coldest months see the mean daily minimum temperatures dropping to 19.2°C and 19.6°C in Salem and Mettur Dam, respectively.

While Salem receives its primary rainfall from the North-East Monsoon, with an average annual precipitation of 920mm, the district is predominantly dry due to low rainfall. This characteristic imposes limitations on the potential for irrigation, adding a critical dimension to the region's agricultural dynamics. (Source: District website, DHDR 2017 and CDP)

12.2 Biodiversity

Salem District unfolds a mesmerizing tale of biodiversity, adorned by hills, plains, and meandering river basins. The region, graced by the Shevroy and Yercaud hills, stands as a sanctuary for a diverse array of plant and animal life, making it a haven for nature enthusiasts and a vital ecological hub.

12.2.1 Flora:

In Salem, there are different kinds of forests. In the Shevroy hills, there are evergreen forests that adapt to the undulating terrain and have many unique plants. In the lower elevations, the deciduous forests shed their leaves with the changing seasons that make Salem's nature look dynamic throughout the year. Salem also has teak plantations, which are not only good for the economy but also help keep nature in balance. The region is known for its healing traditions, with many plants used for medicine, connecting Salem's culture with sustainable healthcare.

At the heart of Kurumbapatti Zoological Park stands the Peltophorum pterocarpum, the Yellow-flame tree, forming dense, mature stands and contributing to the park's vibrant landscape. However, the park's flora extends beyond, featuring over 150 woody species, from densely packed wooded stands to riparian habitats along seasonal streams. Dry deciduous forest types manifest as Southern dry mixed deciduous forest and dry deciduous scrub, portraying an ongoing transformation of the woodland.

12.2.2 Fauna:

Salem is a great place for birds with its hills and water areas attracting different birds, both local and those that migrate. The Shevroy Hills are home to various animals like deer, playful squirrels, and snakes, creating a balanced and lively environment. Salem's diverse ecosystems support many insects, including beautiful butterflies that add charm to the surroundings while helping nature stay balanced. The rivers and water bodies in Salem are like a home for many types of fish, making the aquatic life in the Cauvery River and its tributaries rich and dynamic.

Kurumbapatti Zoological Park serves as a sanctuary for Salem's diverse fauna. Primates like Bonnet macaques and Slender lorises charm visitors, sharing the park with graceful Spotted deer, Palm squirrels, Bandicoot rats, and bats. Avifauna thrives with 36 bird species, creating a symphony of bird songs. The reptilian realm includes the Fan-throated lizard, bronze grass skink, and Bengal monitor lizard. Water bodies and forest environs host various small vertebrates, invertebrates, and moisture habitat fauna, shaping a vibrant ecosystem within the park.

12.3 Water Bodies

Salem relies on two primary water resources: groundwater and surface water. Groundwater serves as the backbone for irrigation and boasts the highest number of home wells in Tamil Nadu. Despite this abundance, the district confronts a significant challenge marked by the over-exploitation of groundwater, notably apparent in various blocks, leading to a significant decline in the water table. While watershed programs have shown positive outcomes in addressing this issue, their impact is observed to be insufficient in adequately replenishing the water table.

In terms of surface water, Salem is strategically located within the Cauvery and Ponnaiar river basins, with vital watersheds contributing to an intricate network of rivers. The perennial Cauvery River, along with tributaries like Sarabanga and Tirumanimuttar from the Shevroy hills, enriches the district's surface water wealth. Key lakes, including Panamarathupatti and Mookaneri, play a crucial role in sustaining water resources.

Despite these advantages, surface water in many parts of the city has been compromised due to changes in land use and climatic patterns, rendering it unusable. The challenge lies in balancing the utilization and preservation of these vital water sources for the sustainable development of Salem.

12.3.1 Groundwater

An in-depth analysis of groundwater levels has been conducted using data from 41 observation wells monitored by the Tamil Nadu Water Supply and Drainage Board (TWAD). The examination encompasses both post-monsoon and pre-monsoon periods, providing a comprehensive understanding of the district's hydrological dynamics.

The five-year average groundwater levels, measured in meters below ground level, reveal the following trends for both pre-monsoon and post-monsoon seasons.

12.3.1 River Thirumanimuthar

The Salem Corporation is situated alongside the Thirumanimutharu River, and its wastewater is currently released into the river. To manage this effluent, the Salem City Municipal Corporation has established four Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) with a combined capacity of 98 million liters per day (MLD). Currently, three of these STPs are pending operationalization, while one is actively treating sewage, discharging the treated effluent into the Thriumanimutharu River.

However, the untreated sewage generated in the area is presently released into the Thriumanimutharu River. Particularly, industries such as Sago units, Textile Dyeing, and Bleaching units are situated along the riverbanks, contributing to the discharge of untreated sewage into the Thirumanimutharu River. Addressing this issue is crucial for safeguarding the environmental health of the region and ensuring the sustainable management of water resources.

The Thirumanimutharu River falls under the category of a critically polluted river stretch, marked as priority I. The comprehensive analysis of water samples collected along the river reveals concerning trends, with notably low Dissolved Oxygen (D.O) levels, alarmingly high Biological Oxygen Demand (BOD), and elevated levels of Faecal Coliforms indicating contamination, mainly from sewage discharge. Remedial measures are urgently needed to restore the health and vitality of the Thirumanimutharu River. Source: Action Plan on Rejuvenation of River Thirumanimutharu Salem to Papparapatti Stretch by Tamil Nadu Pollution Control Board.

Geologically, Salem district is predominantly characterized by hard rock formations, with over 90 percent of the region comprising Archaean age hard rocks, particularly the gneissic type. Charnockite occurs in pockets in Salem and Attur taluks. Quartz, Feldspar, and limestone, resistant to weathering, are also seen as patches in Charnockite and gneissic varieties, and the above rock types found in Sedimentary Formation: - Recent alluvial deposits such as sand, silt, clay, gravel, etc. Geochronological and isotopic investigations reveal a distinct geological history for the southern segment of the Salem Greenstone Terrain (SGT), positioned south of the Palghat–Cauvery Lineament (PCL). This history contrasts with the Dharwar Craton, showing significant crustal growth north of the PCL between 3400 and 2500 million years ago (Ma). The southern terrain underwent predominant crustal growth during the post-Archaean era, with multiple cycles of metamorphism, including the 550Ma Pan-African granulite facies event. The granulite terrain in Salem witnessed two significant periods of granitic activity: one during the Late-Archaean to Early Palaeo-Proterozoic era and the other during Neo-Proterozoic times. The older granites are confined to the southern part of Salem district, north of the Moyar–Bhavani–Attur Lineament (MBAL), while the younger granites from the Pan-African event are widely distributed south of MBAL.Rocks from the Khondalite and Charnockite groups underwent regional migmatisation and retrogression, leading to the formation of various gneiss types under the migmatite complex. Migmatites, generally grey, may exhibit pink hues due to late-stage permeation by pink feldspar veins from potash metasomatism, adding a visually striking aspect to the geological features of the region.

12.5 Pollution

Salem is dealing with different pollution problems like air, water, noise, and industrial waste. Balancing the growth of cities with taking care of the environment is a big challenge. Government groups like the Tamil Nadu Pollution Control Board (TNPCB) and the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) are important in checking and fixing these pollution issues.

During Diwali, the TNPCB runs campaigns to tell people about using eco-friendly fireworks. They also check the air quality and noise levels during and after Diwali.

To stop the use of banned plastics, the TNPCB runs programs to educate people about the problems with these plastics. They have even shut down six places that were making banned plastics. In Salem's journey towards a better future, working together with government bodies and the community is key to finding the right balance between development and taking care of our environment.

12.5.1 Air Pollution

Air quality in Salem is closely observed through the National Ambient Air Quality program. Three monitoring stations, situated in Siva Towers, Meyyanur Main Road, and Salem, along with two locations in Mettur, contribute to this assessment. Additionally, the Tamil Nadu Pollution Control Board has installed another monitoring

12.5.2 Water Pollution

The Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), in collaboration with State Pollution Control Boards, diligently oversees the water quality of major rivers and lakes through programs such as the Global Environmental Monitoring System (GEMS) and the Monitoring of Indian National Aquatic Resources System (MINARS).

River Cauvery is identified as a priority-I category in terms of pollution and undergoes close scrutiny. In Salem District, the river enters Mettur Village and exits at Koneripattir Village after covering a distance of 41.0 km.

To ensure ongoing monitoring, monthly water samples are collected from various sources, including River Cauvery at Mettur, River Thirumanimutharu at Salem, River Vasista at Attur, and Yercaud Lake. These samples undergo detailed analysis at the Advanced Environmental Laboratory in Salem, contributing to a comprehensive understanding of water quality in the region.

i. Sources of Pollution:

River Cauvery: Sewage from the municipality is directed to the existing three sewage treatment plants in Mettur, managed by the Mettur Municipality. Efforts are ongoing to connect the Underground Sewerage System (UGSS) where it hasn't been implemented.

River Thirumanimutharu: This river faces contamination from textile dyeing effluents, discharge from dyeing and bleaching units, sago industries, and automobile service stations within Salem Corporation. Additionally, untreated sewage from the Salem Corporation contributes to the pollution.

River Sarabanga: Untreated sewage from local bodies is a significant contributor to River Sarabanga's pollution. The composting yard along the riverbank exacerbates the environmental impact.

River Vasista: River Vasista experiences pollution from untreated sewage discharged by local bodies. Moreover, improper disposal of solid waste along the riverbanks is prevalent.

To ensure the health of water bodies, regular assessments are conducted by collecting monthly samples from key locations: River Cauvery at Mettur, River Thirumanimutharu at Salem, River Vasista at Attur, and Yercaud Lake. These samples undergo thorough analysis at the Advanced Environmental Laboratory in Salem.

In Salem District, River Cauvery enters at Mettur Village and exits at Koneripattir Village, traversing a distance of 41.0 km.

Acknowledging the pressing need for action, the State government has initiated the "Nadanthai Valley Cauvery" action plan. This strategic endeavor aims to revitalize and rejuvenate River Cauvery within the district, showcasing a commitment to sustainable environmental practices and the preservation of this vital water resource.

12.5.3 Noise Pollution

The current situation highlights a significant concern, as a substantial portion of the population in Salem is consistently exposed to noise levels exceeding 65 dBA on a daily basis. Scientific consensus underscores that residing in areas with an LA eq exceeding 65 dBA places an urban population at a heightened risk for various subjective effects, encompassing psychological, sleep, and behavioral disorders. Despite these challenges, notable efforts have been made to address the issue of noise pollution.

12.5.4 Industrial Pollution control

A total of 2,078 industries in Salem have secured consent from the Board, with classifications falling into the categories of Red, Orange, and Green, reflecting the respective polluting nature of these industries. Among these, 1,926 industries have acquired consent to operate, while the remaining 152 industries have secured consent to establish.

In the below mentioned red category industries, there are 7 Nos. of 17 category industries and 10 Nos. of Red large industries (Textile Dyeing – 1, Chemical - 5, Diary-2, Foundry – 1, LPG Bottling – 1 No)

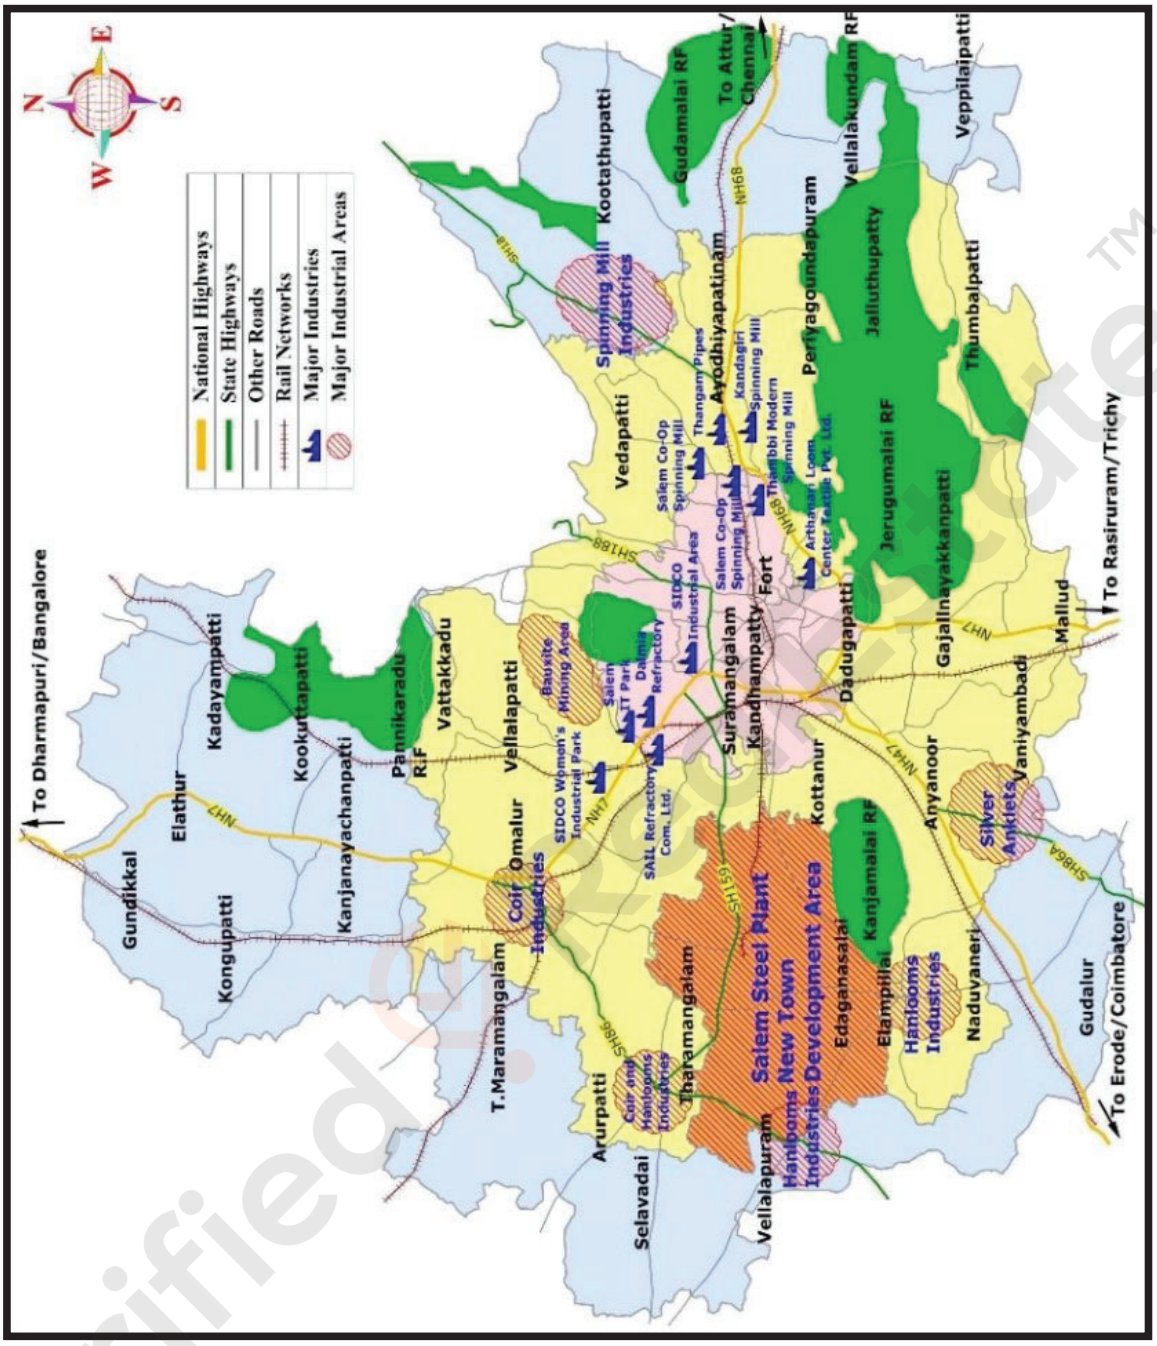

Within the jurisdiction of this office, a number of highly polluting industries, falling under the 17 Category, are operational. These include:

1. Chemplast Sanmar Limited (Caustic Soda Plant)
2. Mettur Thermal Power Station Unit-I
3. Mettur Thermal Power Station Unit-II
4. JSW Steels Limited (Thermal Power Plant)
5. JSW Steels Limited (Steel Plant)
6. Chemplast Sanmar Limited (Thermal Power Plant)
7. Ramco Cements Limited (Cement Grinding Unit)

Additionally, there are 94 bleaching and dyeing units, all of which have implemented a zero-liquid discharge system. Notably, the Hon'ble Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu announced a scheme in the Tamil Nadu Legislative Assembly on 11.08.2014, outlining plans for the establishment of a Common Effluent Treatment Plant (CETP), and the identification of suitable land for this initiative is currently in progress.

Furthermore, the district hosts various other industrial units, including stone crushing units, stone quarries, steel rerolling mills, chemical units, dairy, and milk chilling units, contributing to the diverse industrial landscape within the jurisdiction.

12.6 Disaster Management

A systems-based approach is essential for identifying and assessing risks comprehensively in Salem district, considering vulnerabilities to both natural and man-made hazards. The district faces various flooding risks, including seasonal, urban, cloudburst-induced, monsoon, cyclonic, and dam overflow floods. Impact ranges from affected individuals and loss of crops to damage to infrastructure.

Heatwaves during summer, with temperatures exceeding 40 degrees Celsius, pose risks to residents' well-being, sometimes resulting in fatalities. Salem is located in a moderate seismic risk zone (category III), experiencing seismic events occasionally, with a seismological observatory equipped with recording facilities. Landslides, common in the Shevaroys hills during the rainy season, though typically small, require attention and preparedness. Forest fires, recurring in the state, have affected Salem district, with measures in place for prompt response and control.Chemical industries, such as Chemplast in Mettur taluk, pose potential risks due to the storage of chemicals. However, regular mock drills involving the community ensure adherence to safety norms and emergency preparedness in these industries.

12.6.1 Vulnerable areas

According to the assessments conducted by the Salem Municipal Corporation, several areas within their jurisdiction are identified as flood-prone. These areas include Bodinaickenpatty, Anthonipuram, Chatnam area, Manipuram, Thoppkadu, Annai Therasa Nagar, Pudhur Kallanguthu, Vellakuttai, Narayana Nagar, Pachapatty, and Barath Nagar.

The district's vulnerability to flooding is further categorized into high, moderate, and low vulnerable areas. The vulnerable areas and corresponding relief centers have been listed in the below tables:

13.2 Executive Wing

The executive wing holds accountability for overseeing the day-to-day operations and maintenance of the Municipality. At the helm of this administrative domain is the Municipal Commissioner, who serves as the principal executive officer. The Municipal Commissioner is primarily assisted by five department heads, each playing a pivotal role in the efficient execution of municipal operations and maintenance.

Verified RedEstate™

The organizational framework of the Municipality is delineated into five functional departments, each dedicated to specific aspects of governance and service delivery:

- General Administration
- Public Health Section
- Engineering Section
- Town Planning Section
- Revenue Section

13.3 General Administration

The Municipal Commissioner, serving as the executive head of the Urban Local Body (ULB), is supported by department heads, including the Municipal Engineer, Town Planning Officer, and Manager. The Manager, positioned as the head of General Administration and working closely with the Commissioner, is tasked with the overall supervision and administration of the office.

Within the Administrative wing, a significant emphasis is placed on the general administration of the Municipality. This encompasses a wide range of responsibilities, including establishment matters (such as appointments, pay, and allowances), correspondence with the government and other departments, public relations, redressing of public grievances, legal matters and lawsuits, as well as all aspects related to office administration. The General Administration unit functions as the central hub for dealing with establishment-related affairs, contributing to the smooth functioning and effective management of the Municipality.

13.3.1 Town Planning Section

The Town Planning Officer is the overall in-charge of the section. He oversees the preparation of the Master Plan, ensuring adherence to approved zoning uses for land use, licensing of plan approvals, issuance of insulation licenses for machinery in factories, matters related to land acquisition and alienation, actions against buildings constructed in deviation to the approved plan, issuance of licenses under the Places of Public Resort Act, booking of unauthorized construction, approval of layouts within the town limits, and controlling and removing encroachments in the town. The Town Planning Inspector and Chairman collaborate with the Town Planning Officer in planning future development of the town and related activities, including all the aforementioned tasks.

13.3.2 Citizen Character

As per the directions of the Government of Tamil Nadu, the Municipality has published its "Citizens Charter." The primary focus of this charter is to introduce transparency, responsibility, and user-friendliness in its service provision and maintenance. The objectives of this chapter are:

- Provide fast and quality services to citizens.
- Inform the public about time limits to address the problems.
- Ensure transparency in administration.
- Deliver better administration.
- Provide the best civic services to the people of the town with upgraded standards and efficiency.
- Execute civic bodies' works with utmost care and honesty.
- Offer civic services with special care and in a systematic, time-bound manner.

13.3.3 Institutional Framework for service delivery as per 74th CAA

The responsibility for good governance and management is vested with the Municipality. Although the Municipality is responsible for the overall development of the town, including the provision and maintenance of services, there are other agencies responsible for planning, development, and the provision of specific services. Key stakeholders in this regard include various entities and organizations.

13.3.4 Organizational Management

The organization and delivery mechanism in certain personnel-intensive service sectors need modernization. To highlight a few crucial areas, Solid Waste Management, which involves a large number of workers and staff, could be enhanced through the adoption of localized and more efficient composting and landfill systems. This modernization initiative could be delegated to NGOs, voluntary organizations, or even the respective resident associations in various colonies. This approach has proven to be financially rewarding in many locations. Not only will it significantly reduce the Municipality's burden in engaging workers and staff, but it will also improve its resource position by either substantially reducing the cost of solid waste management or generating revenue as a remunerative venture.

- Tamil Nadu Urban Infrastructure and Financial Services have taken steps to identify landfill sites through GIS, involving the collaboration of two or more municipalities for centralized disposal of solid waste. This collaborative approach aims to reduce the cost of solid waste management for each municipality.
- Privatizing the operation and maintenance of the water supply system, tax and fee collection, and the upkeep of public assets, especially sanitary and public health units, is a well-established option. This can be implemented through a joint venture between the urban local body and the private sector

14.0 EXISITING LANDUSE

14.1 Background

Land use planning plays a crucial role in shaping the physical, social, and economic landscape of an area, offering a strategic framework for sustainable development and efficient resource utilization. In the Indian context, land use planning holds significant importance due to the country's diverse geographical, cultural, and demographic dynamics. It serves as a foundational tool for addressing various developmental challenges and harnessing opportunities for balanced growth and optimal resource management.

14.2 Exisiting Landuse

The analysis of existing land use in Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) is crucial for urban planning and policy formulation. Current land use categorizations, depicted in detailed maps created through field surveys and satellite imagery, reveal the spatial distribution of residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, recreational, vacant, transportation, agricultural, forest, hill, and water body zones. This analysis, constituting 29.06% residential, 4.64% commercial, 1.37% industrial, 14.40% institutional, and 20.54% transportation zones, guides strategic and sustainable land use plans for a balanced and resilient future. The thoughtful balance of 17.14% agriculture, 5.01% forests, and 3.35% water bodies reflects a harmonious integration of natural elements amid urban development.

The distribution also reflects a commitment to environmental preservation, with 8.35% allocated to forests, 9.52% to hills, and 4.24% to water bodies. These percentages underscore the significance of preserving green spaces, natural terrain, and water resources. Recreational spaces, while modest at 0.02%, suggest a focus on designated areas for leisure activities. In summary, this comprehensive land use distribution signifies a well-rounded urban planning approach, balancing residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, and agricultural needs, while ensuring the preservation of natural and recreational spaces.

14.2.1 Residential

The residential land use within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) constitutes approximately 9.35% of the entire land area, encompassing approximately 12,292 hectares. This segment of land dedicated to residential purposes exhibits a distinct spatial distribution, with significant concentrations observed primarily within the boundaries of Salem LPA and the Idangansalai Town Panchayat.

The Salem Municipal Corporation area stands out as a significant contributor, encompassing approximately 21% of the total residential land use within Salem LPA. Within this urban administrative unit, a substantial portion of land is allocated for residential purposes, accommodating a considerable segment of the population.

Verified RedEstate™

Following the municipal corporation, the town panchayat, notably Idangansalai, plays a substantial role, contributing approximately 8.11% of the total residential land use within the LPA. While smaller in comparison to the municipal area, the town panchayat still holds a significant share of land dedicated to residential purposes, indicating a concentrated habitation pattern within its limits.

Moreover, the remaining residential land use, constituting the remainder of the 9.35%, is dispersed across 228 villages within the LPA. These villages collectively contribute to the residential landscape, albeit in smaller individual shares compared to the urban administrative units. This dispersion of residential land use across numerous villages showcases a dispersed settlement pattern prevalent in these areas.

Overall, the distribution of residential land use within the Salem LPA highlights varied concentrations across different administrative units, with urban centers like the municipal corporation and town panchayats holding larger shares, signifying more densely populated regions. Conversely, the dispersion across numerous villages emphasizes a dispersed residential pattern in rural and peri-urban areas, contributing to the overall residential fabric of the planning area.

14.2.2 Commercial

Within the expansive land area covered by the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), commercial land use comprises a relatively modest proportion, accounting for a mere 0.82% or approximately 1075.09 hectares of the total expanse. Interestingly, a significant portion, roughly 42%, of this commercial land use is concentrated within the precincts of Salem Corporation, signifying a notable commercial presence within this urban administrative unit. The Erumapalayam village in the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) is notable for its substantial concentration of commercial land use, closely following Salem Corporation. Despite its village status, Erumapalayam significantly contributes to the overall commercial land utilization within the Salem LPA.

In contrast, the town panchayats within the Salem LPA collectively make a relatively smaller contribution, constituting approximately 5.63% of the total commercial land use across the planning area. While town panchayats play a role in accommodating commercial activities, their impact is more modest compared to other areas in the LPA.Several major markets within the Salem LPA emerge as significant contributors to the prevalent commercial land use in the region. These market zones, characterized by vibrant economic activities and bustling trade, serve as pivotal centers that substantially enhance the commercial landscape across the LPA.

- Guguai market
- Shevapet Market

The commercial land use scenario within the Salem LPA portrays a varied distribution, with prominent concentrations observed within urban centers like Salem Corporation and unexpected zones such as Erumapalayam village. While these urban cores exhibit robust commercial activities, the contribution from town panchayats remains comparatively moderate. The identification of major markets further underscores the diverse commercial landscape within the planning area, highlighting key hubs that significantly influence the commercial fabric of the Salem LPA.

Salem LPA accounts for a mere 0.82% (1075.09 Ha.) of total land area of Salem LPA as commercial land use, about 42% of total commercial area of Salem LPA is within Salem Corporation. Erumapalayam village has higher concentration of commercial area followed by Salem corpotation. Town panchayats contributed to only about 5.63% of total commercial area of Salem LPA.

14.2.3 Industrial

Within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), a significant portion of land—approximately 1937.37 hectares—is dedicated to industrial land use. The notable presence of the Salem Steel Plant significantly contributes to the higher percentage of industrial land use within this area. Situated across 12 villages, the Salem Steel Plant's expansive operation encompasses Karchipatti and Muduthurai villages entirely, which are predominantly allocated for industrial purposes. As a result, the entirety of these villages falls under the industrial ambit of the Salem Steel Plant.

Apart from the substantial influence of the Salem Steel Plant, other notable contributors to the industrial landscape within the Salem LPA include various mineral industries, the SIDCO Industrial Park, and SIDCO Industrial Estates. These entities contribute to the significant industrial footprint observed within the Salem LPA.

The Salem Steel Plant stands as a pivotal contributor to the industrial land use scenario, encompassing extensive portions of several villages and exerting a substantial influence on the overall industrial utilization of land within the Salem LPA. In addition to the steel plant, the presence of mineral industries, industrial parks, and estates further accentuates the prevalence of industrial land use, marking an important aspect of the land utilization pattern within this planning area.

Verified RealEstate™

14.2.4 Institutional

Within the Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), a robust network of institutional establishments is well-established, comprising universities, medical colleges, and a cluster of educational institutions. As the district headquarters, Salem LPA hosts crucial administrative facilities such as the district collectorate office, the central prison, and government hospitals. These institutions, serving various educational, administrative, and healthcare needs, significantly contribute to the institutional landscape within the planning area. Comprising approximately 5.83% of the total land area of the Salem LPA, institutional land use plays a significant role in the overall land utilization pattern. Notably, within the institutional landscape, the Salem Corporation area boasts a higher share of institutional land use. Following closely in terms of institutional land use is Chettichavadi village, demonstrating a substantial allocation of land for institutional purposes within this village.

The prominence of institutional land use in strategic locations such as the Salem Corporation area and Chettichavadi village underscores the importance of these zones as significant hubs for institutional development and services within the broader landscape of the Salem LPA.

14.2.5 Recreational

In the expansive Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), recreational land use comprises a modest 0.03% of the total area, strategically distributed across various zones. Notably, within the Salem Corporation, there's a more concentrated allocation, constituting around 15% of the overall recreational zones, emphasizing deliberate planning for urban recreational spaces. Kattuvepillaipatti stands out with approximately 6.3 hectares designated for recreation, notably hosting the Salem Cricket Stadium. This stadium serves as a key hub for sporting events, emphasizing the significance of strategic recreational land use in specific locales. Despite its small share, recreational land use underscores the region's commitment to leisure amenities.

Verified RealEstate™

14.2.6 Traffic and Transprotation

The Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) features an extensive transportation infrastructure network, comprising major National Highways like NH 44, NH 79, and NH 544, alongside significant roads such as Cherry Road and Sankagiri Salem Main Road. Covering 3.63% of the Salem LPA's land area, this network supports vehicular movement, catering to commuting needs and goods transportation. Additionally, the LPA boasts well-established railway lines connecting to major cities, constituting 0.43% of the Traffic and Transportation land use. Encompassing various elements like bus terminuses, this sector, accounting for 4.11% of the area, ensures vital connectivity and mobility for residents and links to urban hubs.

14.2.7 Agriculture

Agriculture, covering a substantial 54.85% of Salem Local Planning Area's (LPA) total land across 277 villages, serves as a foundational pillar for the region's livelihoods. Noteworthy is Kongupatti village, contributing significantly with approximately 1758.08 hectares of agricultural land. Even within the urban expanse of Salem Corporation, agriculture persists, occupying around 16% of the total area. Despite its dominance, forward-looking planning identifies certain agricultural lands suitable for transitioning to higher-order uses, aligning with evolving developmental needs. Recognizing agriculture's multifaceted role—economic, cultural, and environmental—strategic planning aims to balance urban development, preserve heritage, and ensure sustainable progress in Salem LPA.

14.2.8 Forest

Within the expansive Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), nine substantial reserve forests collectively span around 10,631 hectares, constituting 8.09% of the total LPA. Among them, the Jalluttupatti reserve forest, covering an extensive 3,593.11 hectares, stands prominently, contributing significantly to Salem LPA's green cover and ecological equilibrium. Recognized as ecologically sensitive zones, these forests are crucial for biodiversity, and proposed land use plans prioritize stringent measures to preserve and protect these invaluable natural resources. Upholding their status as reserve forests in the plans emphasizes the need to safeguard them from incompatible land uses, ensuring the commitment to environmental conservation and sustainable development in Salem LPA.

14.2.9 Hills

The Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) is characterized by a diverse topography featuring significant hills like Jerugumalai, Kanjamalai, and Nagarmalai, each contributing distinct geographical attributes. Some of these hills, including Jerugumalai, Kanjamalai, and Nagarmalai, are embraced by lush reserve forests, enhancing their natural beauty and supporting diverse flora and fauna. Constituting 8.20% or 10,771 hectares of the total LPA, these hills are identified as ecosensitive zones. In proposed land use plans, these hills receive a separate land use category, emphasizing their ecological sensitivity and highlighting the need for focused preservation efforts to maintain their environmental heritage within the Salem LPA.

14.2.10 Water bodies

The Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) is rich in its water resources, encompassing numerous significant water bodies that contribute to the region's ecological diversity. One of the prominent waterways is the TiruvaniMuttar River, a significant tributary of the Cauvery River, which flows through the heart of the city. Apart from this major river, there exists a network of smaller streams originating from the primary hills, cascading down to feed into several lakes across the Salem LPA.

These lakes play a vital role in the local ecosystem, fostering biodiversity and serving as crucial water sources. Some of the notable lakes within the Salem LPA include the Panamarathupatti Lake, Kottanatham Lake, Vedamaneri Lake, Pallapatti Lake, Danishpet Lake, and Ammaper Kumaragiri Lake, among others. These water bodies, along with the river and streams, form integral components of the area's ecological landscape.

Verified RedEstore™

In recognition of their environmental significance, these water bodies are designated as ecosensitive areas within the proposed land use plans for the Salem LPA. Preserving these natural water resources and their surrounding lands is paramount to prevent encroachment and maintain the integrity of the natural drainage systems. By safeguarding these areas as water bodies in the proposed land use plans, there's a concerted effort to protect these ecological treasures, ensuring they remain free from adverse human impact and continue to contribute to the region's biodiversity and environmental health.

14.2.11 Vacant Land

Approximately 4094 hectares of undeveloped land within the Salem local planning area, constituting 3.12% of the total area, present a valuable opportunity for future development. This unused land, especially within Salem Corporation (698.41 hectares) and town panchayats (383.86 hectares), offers potential for residential, commercial, or institutional purposes. Leveraging these vacant lands strategically can address the growing demands of Salem's population, aligning with principles of effective urban planning and contributing to sustainable growth in the region.

14.2.12 Waste Land

Approximately 757.68 hectares, constituting 0.58% of Salem LPA, are categorized as waste land, offering future possibilities for diverse land uses. These areas, currently unused, hold potential for repurposing into institutional, commercial, industrial, or agricultural spaces. Through careful planning, these waste lands can be transformed into valuable assets, contributing significantly to Salem's development. Identifying and repurposing these areas aligns with sustainable urban planning, optimizing resources to accommodate population growth and foster the city's progress.

14.3 Landuse Breakup – 2021

The table below showcases the distribution of existing land use within Salem LPA. Agriculture emerges as the primary land use, followed closely by residential areas, while recreational land use represents the smallest share. This composition indicates

The Salem Local Planning Area (LPA) demonstrates a predominant reliance on agriculture, constituting over 50% of its total land area. Residential zones follow closely, emphasizing housing needs. However, the minimal allocation for recreational areas suggests room for enhancing community spaces. The analysis also reveals significant vacant or waste land, offering potential for future development. Understanding land suitability is crucial, especially in identifying zones ideal for residential, commercial, institutional, or agricultural purposes. Adhering to guidelines like URDPFI becomes pivotal for balanced resource distribution. The Salem LPA, classified as a Metropolitan City I, aligns its development strategies with URDPFI frameworks, catering to diverse settlement types.

guidelines reveals potential for future development, especially by optimizing vacant and underutilized lands. This analysis helps identify areas requiring transformation to accommodate population growth. The consideration of ecologically sensitive zones underscores the importance of preservation and sustainable development. Recognizing these critical environmental assets ensures their safeguarding. In conclusion, the analysis serves as a fundamental framework for Salem LPA's sustainable growth, optimizing land utilization, addressing future needs, and preserving ecological balance.

14.6 Land suitability analysis

Identifying suitable land for future development is pivotal, forming the foundation of the proposed land-use plan. The thorough analysis relies on parameters selected through the systematic DELPHI technique and Pairwise comparison matrix, ensuring a well-informed decision-making process. The DELPHI technique's iterative nature and the Pairwise comparison matrix's role in determining parameter weights contribute to a comprehensive zoning plan. This forward-looking strategy, considering specific needs and challenges projected for 2041, ensures adaptability and responsiveness in urban planning, reflecting a dynamic approach to future development.

Also,decadal approval trend for residential, industrial, institutional and commercial have been analysed for landuse proposals.

14.7 Parameters for Suitability Analysis

The analysis is conducted individually for each type of land use, with parameters and weights varying based on the specific land use category. Parameters considered for the majority of land use suitability analyses include:

In assessing land suitability within Salem Local Planning Area (LPA), existing land use holds prominence, influencing future development. Priority is given to vacant and waste lands, while eco-sensitive zones like water bodies, hills, and forests are deemed unsuitable. Moderate preference is accorded to agricultural land. Industrial and commercial zones receive moderate suitability, considering potential infrastructure expansion. Strategic planning preserves eco-sensitive areas, promoting balanced and sustainable urban development.

The elevation map guides suitability, marking lower and higher elevations as unsuitable. Elevated regions influenced by Jergumalai contrast with lower elevations around lakes, considering natural slope to mitigate flooding risks. This comprehensive approach enhances land suitability, aligning with goals of sustainable and resilient urban development. Proximity to major roads is crucial, with NH 44, NH 79, and NH 544 as key corridors. Areas close to major roads are highly suitable for various land uses. For commercial zones, proximity to arterial roads is vital, while residential suitability extends to sub-arterial roads. This strategy optimizes development for connectivity in Salem LPA.

Educational and healthcare facilities influence suitability, prioritizing areas close to these services for residential, commercial, and industrial land use. This emphasizes creating residential zones with convenient access to healthcare, enhancing overall livability.

Water bodies play a pivotal role, designating areas close to them as unsuitable for urban development. Notable bodies like Panamarathupati, Kumaragiri Lake, and others reserve adjacent land for agriculture, keeping residential, commercial, and industrial uses away to preserve ecological balance. This approach aligns with the goal of harmonizing urban development with environmental conservation in Salem LPA.

Additionally, extensive forested areas and hills in Salem LPA, designated as eco-sensitive zones, receive lower preference for development. The total forest area is a no-development zone to adhere to conservation principles. Industrial developments are explicitly prohibited in the vicinity of these eco-sensitive zones. The suitability analysis incorporates various parameters and weightages to identify suitable and unsuitable land for different types of land uses, ensuring a balanced and sustainable approach to future development. The cumulative of these suitable lands are taken for

15.0 ISSUES AND POTENTIALS

The identification of issues and potentials through comprehensive data collection and socio-economic surveys has played a pivotal role in shaping the development trajectory of the Salem Local Planning Authority (LPA). These findings form the cornerstone for determining sector-specific proposals aimed at addressing challenges and harnessing opportunities for sustainable growth. By understanding the socio-economic landscape, the LPA can formulate targeted strategies to tackle pressing issues such as infrastructure inadequacies, housing demands, and economic disparities. Simultaneously, recognizing the potentials unveiled in the survey allows for the strategic allocation of resources and the implementation of initiatives that capitalize on the city's strengths. This data-driven approach ensures that sector-specific proposals are not only informed by the current needs of the community but are also aligned with the long-term vision for a resilient, inclusive, and prosperous Salem.

15.1 Issues in Salem LPA

Outskirt Pressure in Salem LPA:

The outskirts of Salem LPA face increased demand for resources, infrastructure, and residential spaces due to factors like population growth and urban expansion. Balancing sustainable development, infrastructure expansion, and environmental conservation is crucial to harmonize the outskirts' evolution while maintaining overall well-being.

Agricultural Transition:

Salem is experiencing a shift from traditional farming to the tertiary sector, posing challenges and opportunities. Balancing agricultural heritage preservation with advancements in the tertiary sector is essential for a resilient and diversified economic landscape.

Traffic Congestion:

Traffic congestion, exacerbated by inadequate parking space, impacts urban mobility. Strategic urban planning measures, such as multi-level parking structures and designated zones, are needed to alleviate congestion and improve transportation efficiency.

Lack Of Pedestrian Facilities, NMV Lanes, Parking Lots:

The absence of pedestrian and Non-Motorized Vehicle (NMV) lanes compromises safety. Urban planning interventions, including dedicated lanes, are essential to encourage eco-friendly commuting and create a more accessible urban environment.

Recreational Deficiency:

A deficit in recreational facilities limits opportunities for social interaction and physical activities. Developing parks, sports complexes, and community centers is crucial to promote a healthier lifestyle and create vibrant communities.

Stormwater Drainage Deficiency:

Approximately 12.5% of roads lack stormwater drainage, posing risks during heavy rainfall. Urgent attention is required to develop infrastructure and ensure comprehensive coverage, enhancing the resilience of the city's road network.

Ground Water Exploitation:

Critical groundwater exploitation poses threats like declining water tables and land subsidence. Sustainable water management practices, community awareness, and regulatory measures are essential to address excessive groundwater extraction.

Lack Of Facilities for Power Loom and Handloom Weavers:

The shortage of facilities for weavers affects productivity and livelihoods. Initiatives, including well-equipped weaving centers and skill development programs, are needed to enhance the efficiency of the textile industry.

The Growth of The LPA In Forests and Hills:

The western periphery faces growth limitations due to forests and hills. Strategic land-use planning considering ecological significance and innovative construction techniques are vital for balanced urban growth.

In future traffic projections for 2052, the significance of the road network is evident, with Tharamangalam playing a prominent role. Steel Plant Road, particularly the section between Tharamangalam and Nangavalli Bus Stand, anticipates a substantial peak hour passenger trips volume of 18,600, highlighting Tharamangalam's pivotal role as a transit hub. Additionally, Tharamangalam-Nangavalli Road is identified as a critical artery, projecting a peak hour passenger trips volume of 20,790, emphasizing its vital role in connecting residential areas with key establishments and contributing to overall regional connectivity and accessibility. Tharamangalam emerges as a focal point in the envisioned transportation landscape, underscoring the need for continued attention to its traffic management and infrastructure development.

16.3.2 Outer Ring Road

The proposed network of roads in a concentric pattern around the corporation towards the municipality is a strategic initiative aimed at fostering balanced and sustainable urban development in Salem. These roads radiate outward from the city center, connecting to the Salem-Dharmapuri Road and integrating with the Chennai Salem Green Corridor connecting outer urban nodes at the boundary of LPA.

Corridor	Road Name	Width
A1 – A2	Omalur – Thirupathur road	100 ft
B1 – B2	Omalur – Bypass Sankagiri Road	60 ft
C1 – C2	Thiruchengode Salem Road	100ft

Proposed roads to increase level of service of SH 86 and to orient the future expansion around urban nodes for better infrastruture provison and to enhance economic growth through better connectivity.

At Present, heavy traffic from neighboring districts like Chennai, Cuddalore, Trichy, Namakkal, Madurai, Karur, etc., en route to destinations such as Coimbatore, Bangalore, Krishnagiri, Vellalore, etc., utilizes the inner ring road of Salem district, leading to increased traffic congestion. To alleviate this issue, a proposed solution involves the creation of an outer ring road, diverting traffic movement in the outer cordon and reducing congestion in the city.

By extending towards the Local Planning Area (LPA), the proposal seeks to accommodate the city's expanding population and promote peripheral growth. With a forward-looking approach, the concentric road pattern aligns with comprehensive development planning, emphasizing environmental considerations, improved quality of life, and the creation of a well-connected and resilient urban landscape.

16.3.3 Proposed Truck Terminal

To alleviate congestion on the ring road caused by heavy traffic, the proposal includes the establishment of truck terminals in the peri-urban areas along all arterial roads. This facility aims to efficiently distribute goods to their city destinations using smaller vehicles. Given the current traffic conditions on the inner ring road, the implementation of these terminals is prioritized for the long term. The escalation factor is considered based on the year of implementation, taking into account cost parameters such as IDC, contingencies, and pre-operative costs. To decongest the Salem market terminal, it is suggested to develop the directional wise truck terminals at four locations namely

1. Nearby Omalur Market
2. Ariyanur market
3. Seelanayakanpatti Market
4. Ayothipatinam Market

Goods vehicles are categorized by trip frequency based on their Multi Axle Vehicle (MAV) configuration, with 38% representing two-axle trucks and 62% comprising three-axle trucks. A breakdown of vehicle usage to the terminal reveals that 24% of vehicles commute on a daily basis, while 63% undertake weekly travel, and the remaining 13% opt for monthly travel. The distribution of Goods vehicles based on axle count reveals that 38% are 2-axle trucks, while the majority, comprising 62%, are 3-axle trucks. In terms of trip frequency to the terminal, 24% of these vehicles make daily journeys, emphasizing a consistent and regular transport pattern. Additionally, a significant portion, constituting 63%, travels to the terminal on a weekly basis, indicating a prevalent weekly transport schedule. Meanwhile, 13% of goods vehicles follow a monthly trip frequency to the terminal, demonstrating a less frequent yet notable segment in the overall transportation network.

Verified © RealEstate™

16.3.4 Proposal For Cycle Tracks

Based on the survey data, a significant 82.9% of individuals in Salem city rely on private vehicles, with two-wheelers being the predominant mode of transportation.

This prevalent trend contributes to environmental pollution, highlighting the pressing need to enhance public transportation options.

In addition to the road network, the infrastructure plan places a significant focus on sustainable and eco-friendly transportation solutions. A notable inclusion is the establishment of a dedicated cycle track, featuring a recommended width of 2 meters. This forward-thinking initiative aligns with global trends in urban planning, promoting environmentally conscious modes of commuting. The cycle track not only encourages a healthier lifestyle but also contributes to reducing the city's carbon footprint, aligning Salem Corporation with a more sustainable and resilient future. Overall, the proposed infrastructure plan seeks to create a balanced and efficient urban environment that caters to both immediate needs and long-term sustainability goals.

16.4 Environment proposals

Blue-Green Infrastructure

In the context of Salem city, the implementation of blue-green infrastructure emerges as a pivotal strategy to address flooding and pollution issues. Blue-green infrastructure combines natural and engineered elements, integrating water management and green spaces to enhance environmental sustainability.

Green Infrastructure:

- Urban Green Spaces: Creating and maintaining green spaces within urban areas provides multiple benefits. These spaces act as sponges, absorbing rainwater, and also contribute to improved air quality, temperature regulation, and overall well-being. Increasing the tree canopy coverage in urban areas not only provides shade and aesthetic value but also helps in intercepting rainwater and reducing the -- impact of heavy rainfall on surfaces.
- Sponge parks: Constructing sponge parks, which are landscaped areas designed to capture and manage stormwater, can be an effective part of green infrastructure. These gardens help in reducing runoff and enhancing water absorption.

16.4.1 Proposed Urban Forest

Salem, much like various regions in India, confronts an escalating threat during the sweltering summer months—heat waves. These not only risk the well-being of the populace but also pose environmental challenges. In response to this pressing issue, a meticulous proposal for the establishment of urban forests has emerged as a strategic initiative. This visionary plan seeks not only to address the immediate concern of rising temperatures but also to bolster Salem's ecological resilience.

Salem has borne witness to heat waves with temperatures surpassing 40 degrees Celsius, entailing risks to both human and wildlife populations. The scorching temperature of 41 degrees Celsius recorded in 2017 underscores the urgency for proactive measures to counter the adverse effects of extreme heat.

Causes of urban heat in salem

Rapid Urbanization:

Significant urbanization and population growth result in increased infrastructure, traffic, and industrial activities, contributing to elevated pollution levels and urban heat.

Industrial Presence:

Notable industries in textiles, steel, and handloom emit pollutants and heat during manufacturing, adding to environmental stress in Salem.

Traffic Congestion:

Vehicular emissions from traffic congestion contribute to poor air quality, exacerbating urban heat challenges.

Lack of Green Spaces:

- Insufficient green spaces and inadequate tree cover contribute to the lack of natural cooling in the city, amplifying the impact of rising temperatures.

Water Scarcity:

- Reduced water bodies due to water scarcity diminish the cooling effect, aggravating heat-related challenges in Salem.

Addressing Urban Heat Issues:

Verified © RealEstate™

To tackle urban heat and pollution, a comprehensive approach is needed. The proposed Urban Forest Initiative in Salem aims to strategically establish green spaces and heat sinks, mitigating environmental challenges and improving residents' quality of life.

Urban Forest Initiative in Salem:

This proposal aims to implement an Urban Forest Initiative to counter the impacts of heat waves. Creating strategically located urban forests serves as green spaces and effective heat sinks, enhancing the city's resilience.

Supporting Natural Ecosystems:

The initiative focuses on fostering vibrant ecosystems with native plant species, promoting biodiversity, and establishing a harmonious balance between urban life and nature for ecological well-being.

Cooler Urban Areas:

Strategic tree planting aims to mitigate the urban heat island effect, providing cooler spaces for residents amid rising temperatures, creating a more comfortable and climate-resilient urban environment.

Studies show a 1–2-degree lower temperature in urban areas with such initiatives, indicating the potential for significant climate cooling benefits.

Initiatives as on january 2023

The selected site for the urban forest initiative was chosen based on practical considerations, emphasizing proximity to the urban area and surpassing a one-acre threshold. The decision to locate the site close to residential zones stems from a strategic goal to directly address the challenges of urban heat and promote social engagement.

Proposed Site

Ponnamapet (Extent: 1.58 Acres)

Covering 1.58 acres, the Ponnamapet site offers a compact yet impactful opportunity for establishing an urban forest within the urban landscape. Its strategic location ensures accessibility for the local community, positioning it as a potential focal point for community engagement and environmental awareness. The site's compact nature allows for a concentrated green intervention, making a notable impact on its immediate surroundings. The urban forest in Ponnamapet enhances the overall aesthetics of the area, transforming it into a green oasis that fosters tranquility amid urban activities.

The emphasis on a site exceeding one acre aligns with the functional requirements of the urban forest, allowing for a diverse array of tree species and the creation of a resilient ecosystem. The proximity to residential areas not only mitigates urban heat effects by providing natural shade but also encourages a sense of social responsibility within the community. This practical and community-centric approach aims to enhance the overall urban landscape, fostering a sustainable and environmentally conscious living environment for residents. As of today 200, tree saplings have been planted by forest officers, of dash species of plant, which is local to the region.

16.4.2 Flood management

It's important for Salem's flood mitigation plan to be dynamic and adaptive, considering the evolving climate patterns and urban development. Regular assessments and updates to the plan based on new data and technologies can enhance its effectiveness in safeguarding the city from flood risks.

River Channel Maintenance:

- Regular Dredging: Periodic dredging of rivers and water channels in Salem would involve the removal of sediment, debris, and vegetation that can impede the natural flow of water. This ensures that rivers can carry water efficiently, reducing the risk of flooding during heavy rainfall.
- Floodplain Restoration: Restoring and preserving natural floodplains can enhance the capacity of the river to handle excess water during floods. Floodplains act as natural buffers, absorbing and slowing down floodwaters.
- Afforestation: Planting and maintaining trees in Salem's watershed areas can significantly contribute to watershed management. Trees help in absorbing rainwater, preventing soil erosion, and enhancing groundwater recharge.
- Watershed Management: Implementing watershed management practices can help in retaining rainwater and reducing surface runoff. This includes afforestation, soil conservation, and other measures to enhance water absorption and reduce soil erosion.
- Rainwater Harvesting: Promoting rainwater harvesting at the individual and community levels can contribute to reducing surface runoff and replenishing groundwater levels during periods of excess rainfall.

In response to the identified flood-prone areas within the Salem Municipal Corporation jurisdiction, this proposal aims to address vulnerabilities along the Tirumanimuthar River. The areas of concern, including Chinneri Vayakadu, Konerikkari, and Sivathapuram, have experienced challenges such as overflowing of the Thirumanimuthar River, issues related to Selathanpatti Lake, runoff water from Jerugumalai Reserved Forest, and problems in low-lying areas. To mitigate these concerns, a strategic proposal suggests the establishment of a strip park along the Tirumanimuthar River.

16.4.3 Pollution Removal Strategy for River Tirumanimuthar

The Tirumanimuthar River, originating in Vasampadi (Yercaud), flows through various areas in Salem and Namakkal districts, ultimately joining the Cauvery. However, it faces severe pollution issues from untreated industrial effluents and non-point sources. This pollution endangers aquatic life and the communities relying on the river for water. Urgent measures, outlined in the Salem corporation's city development plan, are essential to mitigate pollution, restore the river's health, and maintain its crucial role in the region.

Over nine km (Anaimedu-Uthamasolapuram), the river was polluted due to sewage, and effluents released by dyeing units and sago factories.

Frothing of Thirumanimthar river in 2018 and 2019 is being attributed to the dying industries around Salem releasing their untreated effluents illegally into the river.

Proposed Strategy-

Effluent Treatment at Source:

- Industries in proximity to the river will be mandated to treat their effluents at a common effluent plant before discharge.
- Strict monitoring and enforcement mechanisms will ensure compliance, preventing direct discharge into the river.

Implementing green infrastructure along the river side roads, including rain gardens, bio-swales, green roof and tree pits, to capture and filter runoff water. These features will help reduce non-point source pollution, preventing contaminants from reaching the river.

Organic Pollution Removal: Once the riparian buffer is established, natural processes facilitated by native vegetation will aid in organic pollution removal. Bacterial and microbial action in the buffer zone will break down and absorb organic pollutants, improving water quality.

Benefits: The strategy aims to restore and preserve the natural balance of the river ecosystem. Improved water quality ensures the safety of communities relying on the river for various purposes.

Flooding Mitigation:

Blue-green infrastructure, such as the proposed Strip Parks along the Thirumanimuthar River, acts as a natural buffer against flooding. The park's design incorporates features that absorb, slow, and redirect water, reducing the risk of overflow during heavy rainfall.

Mitigating flood risks in Salem requires a comprehensive approach that takes into account the local geography and climate conditions.

16.4.4 Proposal for Strip Parks along Thirumanimuthar River

To address the identified flood-vulnerable zones and leverage the riparian zone's importance along the Thirumanimuthar River two specific areas, Konerikkarai (Ward No: 24) and Chinneri Vayakadu (Ward No: 26), near NH 44, have been marked for the creation of strip parks. These green spaces, totaling 4.196 hectares and 1.94 hectares, respectively, aim to serve as essential components of blue-green infrastructure.

16.4.5 Proposal: Rejuvenation Of Panamarathupatti Lake

Panamarathupatti Lake, situated 20 km from Salem city, has been a crucial water source since its construction in 1911 by the British. Initially built to supply drinking water to Salem and nearby villages before the establishment of the Mettur dam in 1934, the lake spans 2,137 acres with a catchment area of 860 acres. Despite its historical significance, the lake faced challenges over the years due to check dam constructions, encroachments, and invasive species like Seemai Karuvelam.

In the 1980s, check dams across Varattaru and Kottaru, along with encroachments, diminished water flow to Panamarathupatti Lake, leading to gradual drying. Efforts to transform it into a tourist spot in 2012 were abandoned due to funding shortages.

A 2016 tender to remove Seemai Karuvelam incurred losses, and a 2017 proposal for a Rs 28 crore eco-tourism project faced funding challenges.

The proposed rejuvenation aims to tap into runoff rainfall water from Jerugumalai, leveraging an average annual rainfall of 945.7 mm. Historically, Panamarathupatti Lake supplied water to the region, and with proper restoration, it has the potential to provide an additional 240 MLD (Million Liters per Day) of water supply by 2041.

Beyond water supply, Panamarathupatti Lake revival contributes significantly to local biodiversity and ecosystems. Ensures sustainable water resource management. Promotes environmental balance within the region.

Community Benefits:

1. Water Security:
   - Enhances overall water security for current and future residents.
   - Provides a stable and reliable water supply.
2. Ecotourism Potential:
   - Creates opportunities for eco-friendly tourism.
   - Offers recreational spaces and attracts nature and conservation enthusiasts.

The Panamarathupatti Lake rejuvenation is crucial for Salem's water management. Using local runoff, it meets immediate needs and builds resilience for future climate changes.

16.4.6 Conservation Of Urban Waterbodies

In the pursuit of enhancing Salem's urban landscape and fostering community engagement, a comprehensive proposal for waterfront development is put forth, encompassing these locations:

Proposed lakefront around:

Mookaneri Lake – Kannankurichi

Danishpet Lake - Kadayampatti

Samuthiram lake - Karuppur

Paduvakadu lake - Ayothipatinam

Tharamangalam lake – Tharamangalam

to conserve the shrinking of lakes in urban areas.

Mookaneri Lake

Mookaneri Lake, also known as Kannankurichi Lake, covers an area of 23.5 hectares (58 acres) in Kannankurichi, Salem Taluk, Tamil Nadu. Positioned south of the Shevaroy Hills, it serves as a significant body of water in Salem. Mookaneri Lake, another significant site in the proposed waterfront development, is envisioned as a dynamic space that goes beyond its conventional role. The inclusion of performance spaces, ecological conservation zones, and recreational facilities aims to redefine the lake's purpose, making it a central hub for leisure, cultural activities, and environmental awareness.

Benefits of Conserving Urban waterbodies

Conserving water bodies in urban areas offers a range of environmental, social, economic, and ecological benefits.

Biodiversity Conservation:

Water bodies serve as habitats for various flora and fauna. Conserving them helps maintain biodiversity by providing a home for aquatic plants, fish, amphibians, and other wildlife.

In Tamil Nadu, palm trees, especially coconut palms, play a vital role in the agricultural economy, contributing to food security through coconuts, palm hearts, and palm oil. They provide employment, support biodiversity, and hold cultural significance. With extensive root systems, they prevent soil erosion and contribute to environmental well-being through carbon sequestration. Integrating palm trees around water bodies promotes sustainability, emphasizing the need for responsible and sustainable cultivation practices to balance economic development with environmental conservation.

Climate Regulation:

- Water bodies contribute to local climate regulation by moderating temperature extremes. They can act as heat sinks, cooling the surrounding areas and mitigating the urban heat island effect.

Recreation and Aesthetics:

- Conserved water bodies provide spaces for recreational activities such as boating, fishing, and bird watching. These areas also enhance the aesthetic appeal of urban landscapes, contributing to the overall well-being of residents.

Mitigation of Urbanization Impacts:

- Urbanization often leads to increased impervious surfaces, which contribute to runoff and water pollution. Conserving water bodies helps offset these impacts by providing natural drainage and water filtration.

16.4.7 Linking of water streams for conservation

In Salem, the strategic linking and conservation of runoff streams from the hills offer a multitude of benefits for water source resilience and environmental sustainability. This interconnected water system enhances the region's resilience to changing climate conditions also contributes to the overall health of ecosystems.

These preserved streams provide recreational spaces, cultural value, and educational opportunities, contributing to the well-being and knowledge of Salem's residents. Overall, linking and conserving runoff streams exemplify a holistic approach to water management, aligning with the goals of resilience, environmental conservation, and community well-being.

Benefits:

- Enhanced Water Source Resilience
- Flood Mitigation
- Resilience to Climate Change
- Cultural and Aesthetic Value
- Improved Water Quality
- Biodiversity Conservation

16.4.8 Quarry Reservoir Utilization

Green Fund :

The Green Fund aims to finance and support the transformation of abandoned limestone quarries into multifunctional reservoirs in Salem. This fund will play a crucial role in addressing environmental challenges, promoting sustainability, and fostering the city's water resilience. By channelling resources into this innovative project, the Green Fund contributes to the vision Reclamation, Restoration and Rehabilitation abandoned quarry sites for the benefit of the environment and the community.

Present Problem:

Continuous limestone quarrying has taken a toll on Salem's ecosystem, necessitating a comprehensive solution. The proposal recognizes the environmental consequences and advocates for limitations on further extraction. The present problem is twofold: environmental degradation and the challenge of managing water resources effectively. Repurposing abandoned quarries emerges as a viable solution to mitigate these issues.

i.Site Identification:

At the heart of this proposal is the transformation of abandoned limestone quarries into multifunctional reservoirs. Covering a substantial 397.55 hectares, these sites, including Dalavaypatti, Kanjanayakkanpatti, Kurukkupatti, Manthal, Neikkarapatti, Perumampatti, Ramireddipatti, and Tharamanagalam, are envisioned to become pivotal components of Salem's water infrastructure. Beyond addressing issues of drought and floods, they are poised to serve as expansive recreational spaces, enriching the city's urban fabric. Among the identified sites, Massinayakkanpatti (25.8 acres), Edanganasalai (33 acres), and Karumaapuram (4.3 acres) emerge as prime candidates for this transformative endeavor.

ii.An Approach to Water Security

The crux of the proposal lies in its innovative approach to site selection, a meticulous process designed to align with the natural drainage pattern of Salem. This strategic consideration aims to optimize the capture and retention of water from the highland, transforming abandoned quarry sites into reservoirs that play a vital role in addressing water scarcity challenges during the summer months.

Beyond the immediate benefits, the innovative approach aligns with the principles of environmental stewardship. It transforms these sites into contributors to ecological well-being, creating water reservoirs that harmonize with Salem's natural landscape while providing tangible solutions to water-related challenges.

Benefits for Community:

Transforming abandoned quarries into water reservoirs in Salem offers several community benefits. These reservoirs serve as vital buffers against droughts and controlled release points during floods, enhancing water conservation. Their strategic locations contribute significantly to groundwater recharge, ensuring long-term water sustainability. Integrating these transformed quarries into recreational spaces provides leisure areas, fostering community engagement and outdoor activities. This innovative approach aligns with sustainable development goals, offering a transformative vision for Salem's abandoned quarry sites and promoting environmental stewardship.

16.4.9 Proposal: Aquifer Recharge

Salem, grappling with the over-extraction and depletion of its groundwater, demands a comprehensive strategy for long-term sustainability. This proposal focuses on strategic aquifer recharge as a primary intervention to counteract challenges posed by nature, anthropogenic activities, and socio-economic conditions. Salem faces a triple challenge – changing rainfall patterns affecting recharge, anthropogenic stresses like intensive extraction and urbanization, and socio-economic factors leading to uneven usage. With 71.2% of Salem falling within the Over-Exploited zone, urgent intervention is needed, especially in municipalities like Tharamangalam and Edanganasalai, facing acute water stress.

Verified by RedSite™

Proposed Solutions:

The proposal centers on strategically placing artificial recharge structures in critical zones for controlled recharge, addressing natural and human-induced impacts. To safeguard these areas, a 30-meter buffer is proposed, ensuring protection while integrating recreational spaces into urban planning. This dual-purpose land use promotes environmental conservation within urban development.

Identified Recharge Sites:

Key areas like Kanjanayakkanpatti, Kurukkupatti, Manathal, Ramireddipatti, Tharamangalam, Neikkarapatti, Dalavaypatti, and Perumampatti have been identified as pivotal recharge sites. Geological considerations, hydrological connectivity, vulnerability assessments, and community involvement guided the selection. The earmarked areas align with Salem's unique characteristics and challenges, fostering enduring improvement in groundwater dynamics.

Specific villages, including Darapuram, Kasuvareddipatti, Manathal, Ramireddipatti, Neikkarapatti, and Perumampatti, have varying characteristics, prompting tailored buffer zones. Kurukkupatti, Tharamangalam, and Dalavaypatti, with built-up areas, receive necessary possible buffer zones. The remaining villages are allocated a uniform 30-meter buffer zone. This zoning strategy protects aquifer recharge points, incorporating a total proposed aquifer buffer zone of 0.78 sq. km, showcasing commitment to sustainable water resource management.

This proposal envisions a future for Salem where groundwater resources are not only preserved but revitalized. By addressing challenges posed by nature, human activities, and socio-economic conditions, strategic measures will ensure sustainable and balanced aquifers. Through environmental planning principles and community engagement, this proposal aspires to secure a water-abundant and resilient future for the city.

16.4.10 Housing Proposals

The integrated housing proposal for Salem aligns housing initiatives with broader urban development strategies, emphasizing sustainability and inclusivity. Crafted based on meticulous analysis and population projections for 2041, the proposals address the city's evolving needs. Anticipating a surge in population, the plans incorporate mixed-use development, vertical expansion, affordable housing, transit-oriented planning, and green spaces. With a focus on resilience and adaptability, these proposals aim to meet housing demands while creating a balanced and thriving urban landscape. The strategic planning sets the stage for a harmonious and resilient Salem, prepared for future challenges and opportunities.

i. Affordable Housing Initiatives

One of the cornerstones of our plan is to dedicate affordable housing initiatives for Urban Poor. This allocation aims to address the housing needs of diverse socio-economic segments within Salem. By creating designated zones for affordable housing, we ensure that a significant portion of the population has access to decent and reasonably priced homes. Such initiatives involve collaboration with housing authorities, developers, and financial institutions to create sustainable models that offer affordable homeownership or rental options. Additionally, emphasis will be placed on design standards that ensure quality living spaces while maintaining affordability.

ii. Mixed-Use Development

The concept of mixed-use development stands at the forefront of our planning approach for Salem's expansion. This strategy entails the creation of integrated zones, strategically weaving together residential, commercial, and recreational spaces. These integrated zones will not only accommodate housing but also foster a live-work-play environment. Residents will have convenient access to amenities, workplaces, and recreational facilities within close proximity, reducing commute times and enhancing overall quality of life. Moreover, such developments encourage social interaction, cultural exchange, and economic growth, forming the bedrock of a sustainable and connected urban fabric.

iii. Vertical Expansion

Vertical expansion through high-rise buildings and apartment complexes holds immense potential in accommodating Salem's burgeoning population within a confined space. By utilizing vertical space, we can cater to the growing demand for residences without sprawling horizontally. This approach not only optimizes land use but also allows for the integration of modern amenities and green spaces within these structures. However, careful planning considering structural stability, accessibility, and community needs will be paramount to ensure the livability and sustainability of these vertical communities.

iv. Green Spaces and Recreation Areas

Allocating green spaces in Salem is vital for a healthier, sustainable urban environment. These areas, featuring parks and sports facilities, not only offer relaxation but also contribute to environmental conservation and improved air quality. Integrated into the city's expansion plan, this initiative aims to create a harmonious and resilient urban environment, fostering innovation, community cohesion, and environmental stewardship.

The proposed land use plan for 2041 is crafted with the primary objective of regulating the growth of the local planning area in an orderly manner. It aims to ensure both economic and social development while maintaining environmental suitability. The plan facilitates easy management of land utilization to meet present and future demands, achieved through the application of master plan zoning and development regulations. The proposed land use plan for Salem LPA in 2041 is based on a thorough analysis of project proposals and land suitability. The accompanying table provides a breakdown of land use categories, contributing to a comprehensive strategy for the sustainable development of the region.

In 2041, the land use distribution is poised for significant changes. Residential areas are set to expand, constituting 31% of the total area with an additional 2.4 sq.km. Commercial zones will also see growth, increasing from 4.4% to 6.5%, with a proposed addition of 2.0 sq.km. While industrial, institutional, and transportation areas experience moderate expansions, development in agricultural wet and dry lands are not encouraged. In an effort to increase green cover and retain open spaces for recreation, available open spaces are highlighted as open space & recreational area. Salem corporation has 0.07% of open spaces which is very low. The proposed introduction of urban forestry and conservation of urban waterbodies by providing buffer increases the forest area by 0.03%, adding to the green cover in Salem corporation.

The proposed 2041 land use plan signifies a significant transformation from the existing 2021 distribution. Notable expansions are projected in residential and protection of agricultural areas by reducing only 6.5 sq km of agricultural land, reflecting a shift towards increased vertical development. While the industrial and

17.2 Land use Comparison

The envisioned land use scenario from 2021 to 2041 illustrates significant shifts in various sectors. Residential areas are expected to increase from 9.8% to 11.8%, indicating only a 2% change. Similarly, commercial zones are set to expand from 0.83% to 1.45%. The industrial sector shows a modest increase from 1.51% to 1.9%, while institutional areas are projected to increase from 1.83% to 2%. Road infrastructure is anticipated to increase slightly from 4.2% to 4.4%, representing a 0.2% change. Agriculture faces a notable reduction from 59% to only 55%, indicating a -4% change. Recreational, forest, hill, and water body areas exhibit minor changes, with a shift towards conservation blue and green cover. Overall, these projections highlight a dynamic reconfiguration of land use, emphasizing urbanization and environmentally sustainable development over the coming decades.

The introduction of urban forestry indicates a commitment to environmental conservation. Overall, these shifts illustrate a comprehensive approach to urban planning, emphasizing both development and environmental sustainability in the evolving urban landscape.

In Salem's Local Planning Area (LPA), a significant surge in residential growth has been observed, particularly following the establishment of corporations. This population influx can be attributed to the presence of diverse industries, including handloom enterprises and service-oriented industries. The appeal of Salem LPA lies in its economic opportunities, drawing individuals seeking employment and livelihood prospects offered by the industrial and service sectors. The confluence of job opportunities, coupled with the city's industrial vibrancy, has fueled a noticeable demographic shift as people gravitate towards Salem LPA, transforming it into a dynamic urban center with a residential landscape.

17.3.1 Proposed Form Of Development

To accommodate Salem's growing population, the city is adopting a radial form of development. This approach involves organizing urban expansion along transport corridors radiating from the city center. By concentrating development in this manner, Salem aims to optimise land use, enhance transportation connectivity, and strategically distribute essential services. The radial development model ensures efficient resource allocation, fostering a well-connected and sustainable urban environment. This approach aligns with contemporary urban planning principles, addressing the challenges of population growth while promoting a balanced and accessible city layout.

a. Residential

Salem Corporation is experiencing saturation in residential development, particularly focusing on areas around major transport intersections like Omalur, Tharamangalam, and Ayothipattinam. This targeted approach aims to efficiently cater to the urban population's housing needs.

The proposed land use plan for the Salem's Local Planning Area (LPA) indicates a notable increase in residential areas, with a 14% allocation. This represents a significant expansion of 73.4 sqkm from the existing area. The augmentation of residential space reflects a response to the growing population's housing needs, contributing to the city's urban development.

b. Commercial

The proposed land use plan for Salem Corporation designates 9.7% of its area for commercial purposes, ensuring a balanced urban landscape that accommodates the diverse needs of the community. This allocation includes spaces for various commercial activities, contributing to economic vibrancy.

In contrast to the corporation, commercial activities in the Salem's LPA are sparse, leading to a modest allocation of 1.26% for commercial purposes. This allocation is primarily concentrated around municipalities, acknowledging the specific economic landscape of these areas.

c. Industrial and Institutional

Salem Corporation allocates 1.7% of its land for industrial purposes, with a specific focus on supporting silver and handloom markets. This strategic allocation aims to promote economic activities and contribute to the city's industrial growth.

As part of the land use plan, 10.2% of the Salem Corporation area is designated for institutional use. This includes spaces for educational, healthcare, and other public institutions, enhancing the accessibility of essential services for residents.

Verified PealEstate™

The proposed land use plan entails a 1.5% increase in industrial areas and a 1.3% increase in institutional zones within Salem's LPA. Both institutional and industrial sectors now share similar areas, each spanning 19 sqkm and 16 sqkm, respectively. This balanced growth reflects a strategic approach to fostering economic and community development.

d. Agriculture

Approximately 12.2% of the Salem Corporation area is dedicated to agricultural land, highlighting a commitment to preserving green spaces and maintaining a connection to the city's agrarian roots. This allocation ensures a harmonious blend of urban development and agricultural sustainability within the corporation boundaries where agricultural land is third highest use after residential followed by transport. Agricultural land in Salem's LPA, which was previously about 63%, is now reduced to 55.6%. This reduction involves converting agriculture dry lands into developable areas, making way for urban development while addressing the need for a balanced land use strategy.

e. Recreational

In an effort to enhance environmental quality and community well-being, Salem Corporation plans to allocate 0.2% of its total area for recreation spaces. Specifically, parks around water bodies and the river will be developed, contributing to the overall greenery and aesthetics of the city.

Recreational use is expanded in Salem's LPA through green development around water bodies and quarries. Additionally, there is scope for further increases within municipality areas and residential zones. This emphasis on recreational spaces aims to enhance the overall quality of life for residents and promote environmental sustainability.

f. a. Hills, Forest and Waterbodies

Hills in the region face depletion from quarrying, prompting a proposal for quarry reclamation, focusing on converting these areas into water reservoirs. Recognizing the loss, efforts are underway to restore hills and enhance water conservation through innovative land-use strategies.

Salem's land-use plan dedicates approximately 13.25% to forests, emphasizing biodiversity conservation and ecological balance. Forest protection regulations play a crucial role in safeguarding green spaces. Development towards reserve forests is carefully managed to balance progress and environmental conservation, prioritizing Water bodies, constituting 7.5% of the landscape, are integral to urban and rural fabric. Strict regulations preserve urban water bodies, and proposed buffer zones around aquifers aim to safeguard and enhance overall water resource. Efforts to increase green cover in Salem Corporation involve proposing urban forestry along the Thirumanimuthar River, enhancing urban aesthetics and promotingthe protection of hills. Southeast regions are identified as having low development potential, underscoring the commitment to preserving ecologically sensitive areas.

தமிழ்நாடு ஒருங்கிணைந்த வளர்ச்சி மற்றும் கட்டட விதிகள் 2019–ன் படி தொடர் கட்டட பகுதி என்பது எந்தவொரு பக்கத் திறவிடமும் அற்ற தொடர்ச்சியான கட்டடங்களை கொண்ட பகுதியை குறிக்கும்.

தமிழ்நாடு ஒருங்கிணைந்த வளர்ச்சி மற்றும் கட்டட விதிகள் 2019–ன் படி தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதி (Continuous Building Area) அல்லாத மற்ற பகுதிகளில் அமையும் 18.30 மீட்டருக்கும் குறைவான உயரம் கொண்ட கட்டடங்களுக்கு (Non High Rise Building) பக்கத் திறவிடம் 1.0 மீட்டர் முதல் 6.0 மீட்டர் வரை கட்டடத்தின் வகை மற்றும் உயரம் பொறுத்து தேவைப்படும். அதேபோல் பின்புற திறவிடம் 0.0 மீட்டர் முதல் 6.0 மீட்டர் வரை கட்டடத்தின் வகை மற்றும் உயரம் பொறுத்து தேவைப்படும். ஆனால் பழங்காலத்திலேயே வளர்ச்சியடைந்த பகுதிகளில், மேற்கண்ட அளவுகளில் பக்க மற்றும் பின்புற திறவிடங்கள் விட்டு கட்டடங்களை கட்டுவதற்கு போதிய இடவசதிகள் இருப்பதற்கான சாத்திய கூறுகள் மிக குறைவு.

ஆகையால் தமிழ்நாடு ஒருங்கிணைந்த வளர்ச்சி மற்றும் கட்டட விதிகள் 2019–ல் தொடர் கட்டட பகுதிகளில் கட்டடங்கள் கட்டுவதற்கு பக்க மற்றும் பின்புற திறவிடங்களுக்கு விலக்கு அளிக்கப்பட்டுள்ளது. அதனை பின்பற்றி விதிவிலக்கு வழங்க தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதிகளை கண்டறிந்து அதனை முறையே தமிழ்நாடு ஒருங்கிணைந்த வளர்ச்சி மற்றும் கட்டட விதிகள் 2019–ல் விதி எண் 30(1)–ன்படி தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதி (Continuous Building Area) என அரசால் அங்கீகரிக்கப்பட்ட முழுமைத் திட்டம் அல்லது விரிவு அபிவிருத்தி திட்டம் அல்லது நகர் ஊரமைப்பு இயக்குநர் / அரசின் முன் ஒப்புதலுடன் உள்ளாட்சியால் அவ்வப்போது அறிவிப்பு செய்யப்பட வேண்டும்.

அதனைத் தொடர்ந்து, பார்வை 3–ல் காணும் இவ்வலுவலக கடிதத்தில் சேலம் மாநகராட்சி பகுதிக்குள் மாநகராட்சி மாமன்றத்தால் ஏதேனும் பகுதியை தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதி (Continuous Building Area) என அறிவிப்பு செய்யப்பட்டிருப்பின் அதன் விபரங்களை மாமன்ற தீர்மானம் நகல்களுடன் இவ்வலுவலகத்திற்கு அனுப்பி வைக்குமாறு, சேலம் மாநகராட்சி ஆணையாளர் அவர்களை தாழ்மையுடன் கேட்டுக் கொண்டதற்கிணங்க, பார்வை 4–ல் காணும் கடிதத்தில் சேலம் மாநகராட்சி பகுதிகளில் இதுநாள்வரை எந்த ஒரு பகுதியும் தொடர் கட்டடப்பகுதியாக (Continuous Building Area) அறிவிக்கப்படவில்லை எனவும், மேலும் மேற்படி இனங்கள் குறித்து தொடர் நடவடிக்கை மேற்கொண்டு விபரங்கள் சேகரிக்கப்பட்டு மாமன்றத்தில் அனுமதி

பெறப்பட்டு இவ்வலுவலகத்திற்கு விரைவில் அனுப்பி வைக்கப்படும் என்றும் ஆணையாளர், சேலம் மாநகராட்சி அவர்களால் விபரம் தெரிவிக்கப்பட்டுள்ளது.

எனவே, அதனை மேற்கொண்டு பழங்காலக் கட்டடங்கள் அமைந்த பகுதிகளை விரைந்து கண்டறிந்து அவற்றை தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதிகளாக (Continuous Building Area) அறிவிப்பு செய்ய சேலம் மாவட்ட நகர் ஊரமைப்பு அலுவலகத்தால் முற்பட்டு Madras District Gazetteers – Salem District, 1967 ஆவணத்தின் அடிப்படையில் மாநகராட்சி எல்லைக்குள் பழங்காலத்தில் வளர்ச்சி அடைந்த பகுதிகளை தேர்வு செய்து, கள ஆய்வு மேற்கொண்டு, பக்கத் திறவிடம் இல்லாமல் தொடர் கட்டடங்களை கொண்ட 757 தெருக்கள் தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதிகளாக கண்டறியப்பட்டு, அதற்கு நகர நில அளவை பதிவேடு மூலம் அட்டவணை (Schedule) தயார் செய்யப்பட்டுள்ளது

மேற்கூறியவாறு கண்டறியப்பட்டுள்ள பகுதிகளை தொடர் கட்டடப் பகுதிகளாக அறிவிப்பு செய்ய, சேலம் உள்ளூர் திட்டக் குழுமத்தின் தீர்மானம் பெற்று நகர் ஊரமைப்பு இயக்குநர், சென்னை அவர்களின் மூலம் அரசுக்கு உத்தேசம் சமர்ப்பிக்கும் பொருட்டு உள்ளூர் திட்டக் குழுமக் கூட்டத்தின் விவாதத்திற்கும், இறுதி முடிவிற்கும் ஒப்புதலுக்கும் சமர்ப்பிக்கப்பட்டு, குழும தலைவர்/ மாவட்ட ஆட்சித் தலைவர் அவர்கள் மற்றும் குழும உறுப்பினர்களால் 20.09.2023 அன்று நடைபெற்ற சேலம் கூட்டு உள்ளூர் திட்டக் குழும கூட்டத்தில் ஏற்றுக்கொள்ளப்பட்டு தீர்மானம் எண்.23/2023 நிறைவேற்றப்பட்டது.
